RAILROAD DISASTER.

Train Wrecked on the Stonington and Providence Railroad.

Seven Passengers Killed and Twelve Wounded.

STONINGTON, CONN., April 19.—A dreadful accident occurred to the steamboat train on the Stonington and Providence Railroad this morning. The steamboat train from Stonington for Boston fell through the bridge at Richmond switch. Six cars were burned, and fifteen persons are supposed to have been killed. Six bodies have already been recovered from the ruins. The accident was caused by the freshet.

The steamer Stonington arrived here at about two this morning. There were about one hundred and seventy passengers, who took the 2:30 train from this place for Providence and Boston. At Richmond switch a dam across a small mill stream had been carried away, letting the water from Kenie's pond, which supplies the power for a grist mill, down upon the railroad bridge, located about three hundred feet distant, completely washing it away. No one lived near the pond, so that the breaking away of the dam was not known until the train was thrown into the chasm.

One of the iron rails on the opposite track was driven completely through the engine. William Guile, engineer, and George Eldridge, fireman, died at their posts, and their charred remains were taken from the wrecked engine. The former leaves a family. The killed are very much disfigured. Seven bodies have been recovered. Conductor Orrin Gardiner escaped. Thomas Nolan, through brakeman, was seriously injured on the thigh, while the other brakeman escaped with slight injuries. The killed as far as recognized, in addition to those mentioned, are Albert Allen, Providence; Jerry Cameron, Boston; John Callihan, New York. There are about thirty-five wounded, some of them seriously. It is thought several bodies have been washed down the stream as the flood was probably at its height.

The engine made a fearful leap, passing over the stream and imbedding itself in the opposite embankment. Three passenger cars only were burned, two first class cars and one second class. The other three cars burned were what railroad men call baggage flats. The three cars that contained baggage and express crates were what prevented greater loss of life. The bridge has been repaired and they are again running.

Conductor Gardiner was jammed in between the seats by the shock, but averted double disaster by immediately calling out for some one to go back with the signal of danger for the mail train, which was just behind and approaching at rapid speed.

Jonas Holstrom, passenger, gives the following account of the accident: He was in the left hand side of the rear end of the car and in front of him on the opposite side, near the stove, were two young men, apparently from twenty to twenty-five years of age, and directly behind them Benjamin R. Knapp, Jr., of Boston. Holstrom, immediately after the shock, heard the young men and Knapp call for help to extricate them, as they were wounded and held fast by splintered portions of preceding car. On reaching Knapp it was found that one of his legs was injured, and Holstrom and several others set about to extricate him and the two young men. Suddenly a volume of flame shot into the car door and instantly the mass of splinters was on fire, the flames rushing through the car as quickly as though the wood had been a lot of hay. The rescuers had barely time to relieve Knapp from his position when they were obliged to flee for life, and the two unfortunate young men were left to meet a terrible fate, and burned to death in a very few minutes. With these exceptions, none of the other occupants of this car were known to have perished, though quite a number had very narrow escapes. Just before the fire burst into the car, Holstrom and others were engaged in prying up the stove which imprisoned the two young men, who were seated beside it.

The bridge where the disaster happened is between thirty and forty feet wide, and the depth of the chasm about twenty feet. Nearly forty rods above this point is a grist and saw mill, on Pawcatuck river, and a supply of water for the mills is received by means of a dam. The storm swept away this dam, and the water in the stream below rose to a height of ten feet, carrying away the railroad bridge and abutments, which were found about fifty rods below. The rails at either end of the bridge were left sticking up, and when the train came dashing along the engine and tender leaped the chasm and landed on the opposite side. Immediately behind were two crate cars, which plunged into the opening, followed by a second class passenger car, containing a number of emigrants and a party of sailors belonging in Boston, who were returning from New York. As this car was piled upon the crate cars it was splintered into kindling wood and the persons inside were tumbled into the river, and with one exception were saved uninjured. In the rear of this was a car which contained but two passengers, and Thomas Nolan, the brakeman. The next car was occupied by quite a number of passengers, and was the one in which Holstrom was seated. Behind this was another passenger car and a smoking car, both of which were saved by uncoupling and running them back from the wreck. The general opinion among the passengers seemed to be that the fire caught from a stove in a second-class car, though its work was done so quickly that the origin will probably never be definitely known. No one yet arrived in Boston can give a list of the number of killed, but the general estimate is from eight to twelve.

PROVIDENCE, April 19.—There were probably but seven persons killed, namely: Messrs. Allen, Cranmer, Guile, Eldridge, Callahan, and two unknown persons, whose limbs were burned off, leaving their trunks only. No inquest is deemed necessary by the Coroner. The bodies have been brought to this city.

FROM CENTRAL AMERICA.

Full Confirmation of the Destruction of San Salvador by Earthquakes—Five Hundred Persons Killed and Wounded and Twelve Million Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed—Revolution in Panama.

PANAMA, April 11.—The intelligence received by previous mails from the north is not only confirmed, but comes to a climax with the entire destruction of the capital of San Salvador and the ruin of a population of forty thousand people. The first really violent shock occurred on the 4th of March, at about 5 P. M., destroying many houses. The quaking continued at frequent intervals until the morning of the nineteenth, when at 2 A. M., two light shocks succeeded by a heavy one destroyed the entire city. Sopopango, Ilapango, San Tomas and Santa Tecla have all suffered to a lesser extent, as well as every town within a radius of twenty miles. Fortunately, owing to the alarm of the fourth, such residents as had not left the city were living in the patios or in the public plaza. Hence the number of lives lost, though great was diminished, only two buildings, the Hotel Del Plaque and the Government Palace, are left standing. The loss is estimated at twelve million dollars. The aggregate killed and wounded is five hundred.

The Herald has a letter from San Salvador of March 24th, giving the following particulars: The ground is still shaking slightly at intervals. On the road out of the city to a place called Cedro there are large tracts where the ground looks as if it had been newly ploughed, while in other parts there are cracks and fissures. Loyapango and Alapango, two neighboring villages, are entirely down. Even straw houses have shared the same fate of more substantial edifices. At San Martin only the church and a couple of old houses are down; while on the road thence to Cojutepeque almost every building has been destroyed. Cojutepeque itself has not been injured. Shortly after a severe shock a fire broke out in a ruined drug store, and had it not been for the energy displayed by the President, who directed the work which resulted in its extinguishment, and took charge of one hose, it is more than probable that what the earthquake left undestroyed, the flames would have consumed. No foreigners have been injured. In some few cases roofs have remained standing, supported by the uprights, but in every case all the tiles have been taken off. A couple of thieves, who attempted to ply their vocation while ruin was rife, were promptly shot by order of the President. A great deal of material will be good for rebuilding, and for this reason the government has issued a decree that the Capital will not be removed, as many had supposed it would be. A decree has also been issued, permitting the people to squat on all vacant lots. San Miguel, Santa Ana, and other towns which did not feel the effects of the earthquake, immediately forwarded money and provisions, which were very scarce here for a couple of days.

Additional advices state that the authorities still persist in rebuilding the city on the same site, although this is the eighth time within one hundred and fifty years that the city has been destroyed. Most of the people, nevertheless, have removed to Santa Tecla. The only building that stood the shocks without the least injury was a building erected of timber. The impulse at present is to export timber from California for the construction of such earthquake proof houses. Aid and money have been tendered and sent from all parts of the Republic. Everything has risen to exorbitant prices. The prisoners in the jail were removed to other places, and the Sisters of Charity have been assiduous in their attentions on the sick and wounded. Captain Kennedy of H. B. M. ship Reindeer, gave all the assistance he could, and offered his vessel for the use of Mr. Biddle, United States Minister. The latter, as well as the government returned letters of thanks to Captain Kennedy. Great fears are entertained that the stoppage of sewers, exposure and fright, the dead bodies undiscovered from beneath the ruins, and other conditions, may bring on an epidemic. A fine bridge, lately built across the river, on the road to Sonyapongo, was thrown down. Other roads have been rendered impassible by immense blocks of stone thrown down from the heights, some one hundred tons in weight. Owing to the continuance of shocks more than forty bodies were displaced from out of niches in which they are placed in the cemetery. The earthquake is supposed to have been caused by the suppressed volcanoes of St. Thomas. One of the seven volcanoes within a radius of thirty miles, Isalco, is at present in full blast, throwing down its sides a constant stream of lava, visible at night along the whole coast of the Balsam region.

The officers of the Reindeer report that the United States consulate was a mass of ruins inside, though walls were standing. Mr. Biddle, United States Minister, with his five little ones had a narrow escape. In some places the ground cracked a foot wide and very deep. At every shock all the cocks in the place began to crow, and the pigeons wheeled about wildly in the air. The English visitors consider it a temptation of Providence to rebuild the city again on the same spot. The crust below it is evidently a mere shell. The ear placed close to the ground hears a noise like running water, and falls of heavy stone produces a hollow sound. The Indians would never build on this site.

REVOLUTION IN PANAMA.

A revolution took place here on the morning of the 5th inst., headed by Senor Aizpuru, commander of the State troops, and half-brother of ex-President Correoso. The revolution commenced in Arrabal, where the revolutionists declared in favor of Demaso Cervera, former Prefecto of Aspinwall, as provisional President. Cervera is also a relation of Correoso. The revolutionists entered the city and arrested President Neira, in the government house, without opposition. It was known the evening before that the revolution would take place, and word was sent to the interior by the steamer of the 4th. On the evening of the 5th a collision took place between the National and State troops, arising from a demand made by Colonel Vegel, of the National forces, for the custody of President Neira. One on each side was killed. Cervera has issued his proclamation as President, backed by State troops. Neira, who is in the custody of the National troops, proclaims himself President. Correoso, now Minister to Central America, resides in Chica. He will return on the 12th to Panama, when, no doubt, a general election will be held, and he be declared Constitutional President.

The Star and Herald says the families are packing up and looking for places of refuge from the city, believing that the party outside the walls will execute the threats of fire and slaughter so freely indulged in by their leading orators.

CASUALTIES.

Railroad Smash Up on the Lake Shore Railroad.

CLEVELAND, O., April 19.—The second section of an oil train on the Franklin branch of the Lake Shore Railroad ran into the rear of the first section near Hadly station last night. The burning oil floated down in a stream and burned a wagon road bridge half a mile distant from the track.

The Rebellion in Sumatra.

LONDON, April 20.—A dispatch from Penang, Straits of Malacca, dated to-day, says: "The latest news from Sumatra is that the Dutch forces have retreated to Sabuch, where they have entrenched themselves. It is doubtful whether they can hold their position there long, as they are vastly outnumbered by the Atcheenese, whose forces are constantly increasing. The losses of the Dutch in killed and wounded since the beginning of the rebellion are estimated at five hundred. Those of the Atcheenese are unknown, but must be very heavy."

Operations of Carlists in Spain.

PERPIGNAN, April 20.—The Carlists last week stopped a diligence in the province of Gerona, shot all the passengers and seized the mails. The library and cabinets of physics and chemistry belonging to the Seminary of Gerona were pillaged by a mob last week. The Federal Republicans continue to rule the city of Barcelona. They make requisitions on wealthy citizens on the slightest pretext. The volunteers yesterday surrounded the Church of Maria Del Mar on suspicion that a Carlist club had its headquarters there. The Church was carefully searched, but nothing found to confirm suspicions.

Massacre of Christians by Mohammedans Prevented.

BELGRADE, April 20.—The Mohammedan fanatics in Bosnia plotted a general massacre of christians to-day during the observance of orthodox Easter. The authorities were informed in time of the plot and extensive military precautions were taken which prevented it from being carried out. Advices from Bosnia Serai, the capital, this evening report that no outbreak has occurred and all is quiet throughout the province.

ANARCHY IN LOUISIANA.

Civil Authorities Call Upon the Government for Assistance.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—The following dispatch was received here through Major General McDowell:

NEW ORLEANS, April 18, 1873.—Colonel W. D. Whipple, Assistant Adjutant General, Headquarters Army, Washington, D. C.: The instructions of the Secretary of War, of this date, are received. I beg to call attention to the dispatches of yesterday and to-day, forwarded through Division headquarters. It will be seen by these that I had determined to act under the authority of the President's order of March 5, to prevent violent interference with the State government. If I am mistaken in that view, I should like to be informed at once. Since these dispatches requisitions by U. S. Marshal, in execution of judicial process, have been received in cases occurring in the disturbed district and other places, and I have ordered troops to Monroe and Alexandria, Louisiana, to act as posse comitatus to the Marshal; but the Governor of the State has made several requisitions for troops covering ground in various parts of the State, stating the inability of the local authorities to keep the peace, and it will therefore be seen how important it is that I should have the right views of the instructions of this date, which would seem to imply that I was expected to act only on the requisition of the United States Marshal in execution of judicial process. As order of 5th March now stands it is very comprehensive and it is on that, no doubt, Governor Kellogg bases his requisition.

W. H. EMORY,
Colonel Commanding.

The order of 5th March to Colonel Emory from General Sherman is as follows:

The President directs you to prevent any violent interference with the State government of Louisiana.

The Acting Secretary of War has instructed the General of the Army as follows:

GENERAL:—Referring to the dispatches of General McDowell and Colonel Emory of the 18th inst., by you referred to me, I beg to say that the order of the President conveyed in the telegram of the General of the Army of March 5th, made under the then existing circumstances of the particular case, refers only to the government proper of the State of Louisiana, as represented by Governor Kellogg, which government at its seat the Colonel commanding is by said order directed to protect from being overthrown or interfered with in its direct functions by violence. In regard to local disturbances of peace in the State, not direct violent attacks on the central organization of the State government, the officer in command must be governed by the limitations of the order of the 19th inst. of the Acting Secretary of War, directing him to aid the United States authorities then legally required, except that his action need not be confined to any particular parish. If the State government needs aid, desires the aid of the United States troops to maintain the public peace or to prevent rebellion, the Legislature, or Governor, if it be not in session, should apply to the President directly in the regular manner for such aid.

The above was sent to Col. Emory, by General Sherman for his guidance.

The following is a copy of the telegram addressed to General Sherman, by Major General McDowell, dated New York, April 18th.

Governor Kellogg applies to Colonel Emory for troops to keep the peace in Grant parish, Louisiana. Colonel Emory ordered a company from Baton Rouge. All boats refused to take troops up Red River, averring that it would destroy their trade. Applications were made to the Collector at New Orleans for a cutter. The reply was that none were available. Emory asks the government to be informed of his situation, and that he be authorized to seize a boat, or that a revenue cutter be placed at his disposal. Has authorized the quartermaster to charter a special steamer and if successful will send two companies to remain in the disturbed district during the summer. It will require from fifteen to twenty days to march. The Governor states that the local authorities are utterly unable to keep the peace. I cannot but think General Emory will be able to charter a boat. If not, he should not be without means of relieving the disturbed district.

General McDowell also telegraphed General Sherman as follows:

NEW YORK, April 18.—Emory telegraphs it is now certain he will get a steamer. I thought he would. He is now anxious to know if the government approves of his course. I have telegraphed that his sending troops to Grant parish, and engaging a steamboat for this purpose, is approved.

NEW ORLEANS, April 20.—The steamer B. L. Hodge departed last night, with United States troops, for Colfax. A special dispatch announces the departure of Kellogg's officials from St. Mary's Parish. The impression is gaining ground that the presence of United States troops will be required in every parish of the State to enforce obedience to the Kellogg government. A special dispatch announces a large and enthusiastic meeting of the property-holders of Ouachita and adjoining parishes, at Monroe, yesterday, which was addressed by Governor McEnery. The meeting resolved to pay no taxes to Kellogg.

JAIL DELIVERY.

Briceland, the Convicted Murderer, and Six Other Prisoners Escape From Prison.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 19, 1873.

About half past seven this evening, it was discovered by Sheriff Ramsey that the jail doors were standing open and that the prisoners who had all been locked in their cells for the night, were gone. Among the number was Briceland, who was convicted at the last term of Court of the murder of Allingham. There is great excitement and officers and others are out in all directions. A reward of $300 is offered for Briceland. Seven prisoners in all made their escape.

One of the Escaped Prisoners Returns.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 20, 1873.

William Lankert, one of the prisoners who escaped from jail here last night, and who was serving out a short term for vagrancy, gave himself up this morning. He says the keys with which the cells and outer doors were unlocked were made in the jail by the prisoners. It appears that four of the prisoners had been left outside of the cells for exercise, and they released the others, and all passed through the Sheriff's office and jumped from a back window. Lankert says that Briceland, the convicted murderer, was not seen by any of them after he left the window. No trace has yet been found of Briceland or the rest of the prisoners, although the officers are out in every direction and the telegraph lines have been freely used.

Postoffice Robbed—Arrest of Supposed Robbers.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

ANDERSON, IND., April 19, 1873.

The postoffice at Honey Creek, Indiana, was robbed night before last of between forty and fifty dollars in stamps and a quantity of clothing. Two men trying to dispose of three cent stamps to-day for two dollars per hundred were arrested on suspicion and a preliminary examination before the Mayor sent them to jail in default of five hundred dollars. They gave their names as Jno. Lacy and Thomas Higgins.

Release of a tax Collector.

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—Edward Booth, receiver, had an ovation to-day upon being released from the Parish prison where he had been incarcerated for twenty four hours by Hawkins for alleged contempt of the Superior District Court, in continuing business and refusing to pay taxes to Kellogg's collectors. Hawkins having issued an injunction restraining Booth from doing further business until the taxes were paid. The procession with a band of music escorted Mr. Booth from the prison through the principal streets to his place of business, and was frequently cheered all along the route. As the procession passed the corner of Camp and Gravier streets, Kellogg was hung in effigy to a lamp post, the effigy was afterwards burned.

Hayden Geological Expedition.

Wonders of Colorado and New Mexico.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20, 1873.

The advance of the Hayden United States Geological Exploration of the Territories left here this evening for Denver, Colorado. The party consisted of Capt. Stevenson, master of transportation, J. N. Coulter, botanist, and W. H. Jackson, photographer. Capt. Stevenson will establish a camp of rendezvous on Clear creek, near Denver, and will here organize the transportation and accumulate the stores of the expedition. The scientific corps will leave here in about ten days. Professor Hayden will have his reports, now being printed, completed, so that he can get off next month. The expedition will start from Clear creek about June first. It will first move due west one hundred miles and thence due south into New Mexico, exploring a belt of country one hundred and fifty miles wide, which will include the back bone of the Rocky Mountains. The expedition will be absent about four months. Its members expect to return with a store of scientific and practical knowledge of the wonders of Colorado and New Mexico no less complete than they brought from the Yellowstone.

Senator Bayard's Reasons for Returning "Back Pay."

The Secretary of the Treasury received the following letter from Senator Bayard refunding his share of the "back pay" voted to Members of Congress:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17, 1873.

SIR: Under the Appropriation bill passed on the last night of the Forty-second Congress, I became entitled to $4,500 as increase of pay for that Congress, and I now enclose my check on the National Metropolitan bank of this city for the full amount, to be paid into the Treasury of the United States. As a member of the Senate Committee of Conference, to which this bill was referred, I endeavored unavailingly to have this feature of increased retroactive pay stricken out. I had then the alternative of voting to defeat one of the principal bills for the necessary expenses of the government because of this objectionable feature, and, as a consequence, to make an extra session of Congress immediately necessary, the cost of which would alone have exceeded the amount of this "back pay," and which, for other reasons, I deemed prejudicial to the public interest; and therefore I preferred the bill would pass. It was my undoubted legal right to receive this "back pay," and it rests solely in my own discretion whether I retain it. My hesitancy on this question has chiefly arisen from an unwillingness even possibly to seem in refusing to keep this money to reflect upon those of my fellow members who personally and conscientiously take a different view of the matter. As, however, I joined in the report of the Committee of Conference, and voted in favor of the bill on the grounds of public duty, so I feel entitled to eliminate from the result of my official action an item of pecuniary advantage to myself I felt constrained to vote for under the circumstances I have stated, but for which I would not have voted as a separate measure. This remittance is my voluntary and personal act, which I have thought proper to accompany with the foregoing statement.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,
T. F. BAYARD.

Hon. Wm. A. Richardson, Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19, 1873.

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

The third section of the Postal Appropriation act of last session, repeals all laws permitting the transmission by mail of any free matter whatever from and after June 30th. Under this law quarterly payments of postage will be required on all newspaper exchanges and county newspapers the same as is now and will be then required in the case of all mail subscriptions, namely five cents per quarter for weekly newspapers, thirty cents per quarter for papers published six times per week, and thirty-five cents per quarter for daily papers—prepayment per quarter or per year to be paid either at the office where mailed, or at the office where delivered; in other words, the same rule will be applied to all newspapers by whomsoever sent or received.

AUTHORITATIVE CONTRADICTION.

Senator Boutwell, who was at the Treasury Department to-day, emphatically contradicted the recent statement of Phelps, Dodge & Co., that the $271,000 was forced out of them by way of compromise. He said that when the charges of fraud were brought against that firm they filed a statement at the Treasury asserting their innocence and offering to pay $271,000. Mr. Boutwell, who was then Secretary of the Treasury, declined to receive the money, and notified the firm that the courts were open, and if they were innocent of the charges they should go into Court and prove their innocence. Upon this notification they withdrew the assertion of their innocence, and it was then their offer to compromise was entertained. The Department in no case accepts money of any party charged who claims to be innocent, being allowed by law to compromise with offenders only after guilt is admitted, and it was on this distinct understanding that the compromise with Phelps, Dodge & Co., was made.

AN ATTEMPTED SWINDLE.

A Bold Attempt to Obtain Money from Government Officers by Using the Name of President Grant.

About ten days ago General Babcock, the private secretary of the President, received from the postmaster at Greensboro, North Carolina, a letter enclosing the following circular, and making natural inquiries in regard to it:

"CONFIDENTIAL CIRCULAR, No. 14,
"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
"WASHINGTON, April 5, 1873.

"The annexed conversation is submitted to the friends of the President in confidence. Our friends can address Rev. J. Hale Barney, who is temporary secretary in that behalf. Any one having conscientious convictions against contributing need only silently decline. The President has acted in good faith, and confidently relies upon an active and cheerful assistance. Suppose nothing had been done, and the state of affairs existing in Louisiana had more extensively prevailed, what would have been the result? Read carefully the President's views and act as your judgment dictates, remembering that this subject is confidential, and known only to three persons besides the President, and that whatever is sent should be in currency in the enclosed envelope.

"Very respectfully,
"E. O. BABCOCK, Secretary."

THE CONVERSATION.

"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
"WASHINGTON, October 12, 1872.

"Memoranda of a conversation between the President and his Secretary:

"Secretary—Mr. President I wish to refer to this telegram of Senator Morton's."

"To the President:

"'A conspiracy has been formed to overrun Southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and to keep the colored voters from the polls in the Southern States. Seven thousand non-residents have just voted in Indiana. Men and money are needed. I send a man to you who has been in their councils.

"'(Signed) O. P. MORTON.'

"President—Yes, I have thought that matter all over, and had a long talk with the man the Senator sent. What does Mr. Cook say about money? You know that we have none, and that appropriated by the Committee on Ways and Means is all necessary for the regular business.

"Secretary—Mr. Cook will furnish you any amount you require.

"President—Very well. I will take the responsibility. Have Captain C. to select a dozen men to go South and West with funds and organize. The mere fact of a government organization will deter lawless bodies from attempting to defraud the people at the polls."

ADDITIONAL CONVERSATION, MARCH 24, 1873.

"Secretary—Mr. President, have you determined how you will reimburse Mr. Cook the money furnished last October?

"President—Yes, I have. The Bishop has suggested Rev. J. H. Hale Barney to act as secretary in that matter. Appoint him immediately; and, as our mails are so large and go to clerks to be arranged and briefed before we see them, you will have all letters on the subject addressed him. Call upon our friends, and allow no one person to contribute over $10, and, to prevent publicity and trouble, direct the remittances to be made by a single $10 note. Registered letters, drafts, or express would necessarily tend to publicity. Mr. Secretary, you will make an alphabetical list of every contribution, to which we can hereafter refer?"

With the above circular was also enclosed a printed letter for the return after being filled up.

The case was entrusted to Col. Whiteley, chief of the secret service of the government, who, with his assistants arrested D. D. Pardee, alias Rev. J. Hale Barney, A. Schuyler Sutton and W. McKean, who are now locked up for trial.

In the rooms of these men were found a trunk with a hole in the top for the reception of letters, a small outfit for printing circulars, etc. A large amount of correspondence was found, also, and on searching the prisoners, a number of National bank notes used by the detectives to trap them were brought to light.

HEAVY LAND SLIDE.

The Pan Handle Tracks Blockaded.

About half-past two o'clock yesterday morning a heavy land slide occurred on the side of Coal Hill, opposite Singer, Nimick & Co.'s mill, South Side, resulting in a complete obstruction of the tracks of the Pan Handle Railroad. Earth and rock covered them to a depth of ten feet, and all day yesterday laborers were at the work of removing the deposit. A massive rock of perhaps a ton's weight struck one corner of Singer's mill, tearing down a part of the wall. The tracks will be in running order to-day.

Stabbing Affray in Allegheny.

A serious stabbing affray occurred on Saturday evening in a saloon kept by Mary Elwinger, on South Diamond street, Allegheny. About eight o'clock Charles Bach, in company with two or three of his friends, entered the saloon and took several drinks. They had not been in the saloon long, when an altercation took place between "Shaky" Patterson and one of Bach's companions, which soon became general, and a regular row ensued. During the progress of the fight two or three of the men were more or less pummeled, but Patterson suddenly terminated the melee by stabbing Bach in three places. The first cut was in the back, the second in the hip and the third in the thigh. The police by this time arrived, but the entire party had already left the tavern, and consequently no arrests were made. Drs. Dick and Cole were immediately summoned and commenced examining the injuries of the wounded man. The physicians probed the wound in the back to a depth of three inches, and found that no vital part had been reached. The gash across the thigh is about three inches in length, and will make the patient a cripple for life. The wounds although severe are not necessarily fatal, and the patient will recover unless inflammation sets in. After his injuries were properly attended to, he was removed to his home in an alley between Hancock and Locust streets, Third ward. An information has been made before Mayor Callow by Chief Clark against Patterson for felonious assault and battery, and every effort will be made to apprehend him.

A Sacriligious Swindler.

An aged man had a hearing on Saturday before Alderman Neubert on the charge of getting one thousand certificates of absolution printed, intending to dispose of them. The man at one time gave his name as Franz Lehleicher, but when questioned closely said his name was John Fay. He had been in delicate health a long time, and was an inmate of San Franciscus Hospital, from which institution he was recent released. He secured, while there, a certificate of absolution, and having no means of earning a livelihood, conceived the idea of getting a thousand copies of their certificate printed, and to dispose of them at the usual rates. Fortunately he was detected before he had sold any, and arrested. At the hearing he appeared to realize his crime and was every repentant, weeping all the time. The priests present were moved by his tears and consequently agreed to withdraw the charge, provided the prisoner returned the certificates he had printed, which he did and was released.

MONDAY, APRIL 21, 1873.

The St. Paul Press thinks that "what the Indian most needs is to get rid of the idea that he is a licensed black-mailer." This is measurably true. And what a good many whites most need is to get rid of the idea that they have a license to treat the red men as if justice to him were a crime.

It is a somewhat curious fact that very few United States Senators have declined to take their back pay. Is it for the reason that they do not come before the people for re-election at once, and that, by the time the matter does come up, they expect the excitement on the subject will have passed away? The people, however, have pretty good memories—and they elect Legislatures.

The Western farmers' anti-monopoly movement is fast being wholly wrested from its legitimate meaning and intent. Every scurvy politician in that quarter, albeit he never in his life so much as turned a furrow, is on the keen scent to ride into office behind an agriculturist's wagon. Unless the farmers have a shrewd care, they will find their last end in this matter a good deal worse than the first.

Ben. Butler is now called "the three cent man," from his audacity in defending the passage of the "back-salary" bill and being impudent enough to declare that the theft from the people of the United States amounted to only three cents a head. There were many of his partners in carrying that swindle through who hold the people much cheaper even than Ben. Butler does. He is gracious enough to give to every one that claims it, his estimated share of the plunder; but they hold on to it all.

The local elections in New Jersey held last week show that the Republicans have been able to hold their own in that State, and maintain the ascendancy they won last fall. They carry fourteen out of twenty-one counties of the State. In the State Senate, ten Republicans hold over, and five Democrats, and six are to be chosen next fall. Of these six, the local elections just held show that the Republicans will elect three and probably four, which ensures a Republican majority in that body.

We learn from authentic sources, that an important statement will soon be made public at Washington, regarding a gigantic scheme said to be already nearly matured, to obtain control of the entire transportation traffic in the United States. The scheme has been carefully concealed and attempts made to involve members of Congress to prevent adverse legislation. Advances to subsidize a well known Senator from the West, by a proffer of stock at par, are reported as the cause of the impending exposure.

The latest information from the seat of the Modoc war is to the effect that the savages have succeeded in escaping from the lava beds to another retreat at some distance from their late stronghold, which is said to be harder to approach than the first. It is the evident intention of the government, however, to track, capture, and execute the murderers, at whatever cost of time, labor, or expense. And this, also, is the policy which ought to be inflexibly pursued with regard to the white Modocs of Louisiana. In both cases complete retribution should be meted out.

The Post has no word of condemnation for the perpetrators of the recent horrible butchery in Louisiana. If it does not regard them as entirely in the right in what they have done, there is nothing in its language indicating disapprobation of them or their acts; but there is an indirect excuse for them in its arraignment of the General government for upholding the decrees of the Federal and State Courts, as, by the very nature of its functions, it was necessarily bound to do. It is somewhat difficult to discover what the Post really wants; but it looks as though it would have the blacks of Louisiana—and, for that matter, of the entire South—left wholly at the mercy of those whose ingrained hatred of the race is even stronger and more detestable than its own.

The imports of dry goods at New York last week were over three millions, and of other goods over nine millions. Here we are, again, up to a weekly total of thirteen millions. Somebody is bound to suffer for this reckless importation of foreign wares. The country cannot stand the drain upon its resources which the sale of such enormous importations would impose upon us. Happily for the nation, so far, the spring trade has been too "dull" to relieve the importers of their immense stocks, and their shelves are left to groan under the burden of unsold goods. Last week's heavy importations serve only to increase this burden, and we hope soon to be able to chronicle that the importers have learned their folly and put a stop to its further continuance.

The latest illustration of what, to use an inelegant but singularly expressive term, may be called "cheek," is afforded by the Arkansas Legislature, which has just memorialized the General government to make good to that State some half a million of dollars expended in quelling the local disturbances of 1868, upon the ground that the troubles which caused Governor Clayton to declare martial law and call out the militia in several counties, were the result of the reconstruction measures. At this rate we may presently expect all the Southern States to send in their little bills for the damages done by the Ku-Klux, on the plea that no such organization would have existed if the rebels had not been subjugated and the government had not abolished slavery. Could the force of impudence further go?

For some time past there has been considerable coldness between the native and Northern born elements of the Republican party of Virginia. These dissensions have now been satisfactorily and harmoniously settled. The Republican candidate for Governor is to be Col. Hughes, of Norfolk, a native born citizen of the State, who is popular among the people of all classes and parties for his earnest endeavors to stimulate trade and develop the wealth of the State by means of railroads and the canal project to connect the James river with the Kanawha. For Lieutenant-Governor it has been agreed to place in nomination Hon. C. P. Ramsdell, a native of Pennsylvania, who has resided in Virginia a number of years, and is now a member of the State Legislature. This early and happy disposition of vexatious trouble augurs well for the success of the party in the ensuing campaign, which bids fair to be one of the most hotly contested since the war.

The New York World fully coincides in the opinion lately expressed by this paper, that the productiveness of the West would crowd and choke all the channels of transportation and glut all distant markets if they were multiplied tenfold, and that the true solution of the problem which just now so stirs and agitates the Western mind does not lie in multiplying and cheapening transportation to the seaboard, but in saving that transportation altogether by building up vast diversified industries in the West itself. This is an admirable protectionist argument to come from the leading free trade journal of the country. What is it but the protection which the government has thrown around our home industries, that is gradually building up home markets in that vast and fruitful region, thereby bringing producers and consumers closer together, and slowly doing away with the necessity of transportation for long distances? Illinois, for instance, is now second only to Pennsylvania in the manufacture of iron. It is estimated that 85,000 tons of pig iron will be made this year in the State, the greater portion of which will be manufactured into Bessemer steel. Suppose we had had no tariff during the past ten years. Is it likely that Illinois—and other Western States which are following close on her heels—would have shown such a prosperous and encouraging exhibit? What do the free traders think about it?

Bigler has got into the Constitutional Convention at last. He was on the Democratic ticket for delegate at large last fall; but when that unholy bargain and sale took place between the handful of "Liberals" and the Democrats, by which the latter sold out to the former, Bigler was forced off to make way for Curtin. Shortly after the Convention met one of the Luzerne men resigned, and it was then understood that Bigler was to be rewarded for his magnanimity in letting Curtin in, but some other Luzerne fellow (never heard of since) cut in ahead of him, and Bigler's patriotism went unrewarded. Now that the Convention is (or ought to be) nearly through, a Lancaster Democrat backs out and makes way for the man who has been waiting in the cold all winter. "It's of no consequence," however, as Mr. Toots says. He can't be worse than the rest of them, and there is little prospect that he will be any better. William is not of the class that sets rivers on fire; and he has hardly brilliance enough to enliven so dull a mass as that which he has now become a part.

There are a great many people in that Convention who were never elected to it at all, of whom Buckalew and Bigler are examples; and still a greater number who were not chosen by a majority vote. The fourteen Democratic delegates at large were some 30,000 in the minority, and the man Reynolds, who has resigned to make way for Bigler, was in a minority of over 5,000 in Lancaster county. We owe this precious exhibition to the ridiculous system of minority representation; and the most singular part of the whole affair is to be found in the fact that these "minority" fellows set themselves up as representatives of the people, and are laboring hard to control the action of the Convention. Common modesty is not a prominent trait there, and we expect to hear of Bigler making as much noise about "the people" as his fellow demagogue, Buckalew, and just the same, too, as if he had not been sneaked into the Convention in spite of "the people" and in disregard of their expressed will.

INCREASE OF THE DENOMINATIONS.

One of our contemporaries has been exploring the United States census volumes in pursuit of ecclesiastical statistics, with some results of general interest. It seems that between 1850 and 1870, while the number of church members nearly doubled itself, the amount of church property increased fourfold; a statement which refers to all the denominations in the aggregate. In detail, the Catholics are found to have doubled their number in the interval mentioned, and their church property in 1870 was about six times what it had been in 1850. It is now estimated at sixty millions of dollars. As it is owned by the bishops, "their lordships," as Father Gallitzin always called them, are rapidly becoming the richest men in the country. However, they are, after all, mere trustees, "occupying" the property for sacred purposes, and to avoid the distraction and inefficiency which would necessarily attend its administration, if its ownership were divided or distributed. In truth, the arrangement is an essential feature of the system which is so ingeniously contrived to secure the cohesion and unity of the Church. The bishops are always tried men, and can be depended upon; whereas laymen or even mere priests are exposed to temptations which might lead them into attempts at independence, with the result of distracting the faithful and of robbing the Holy See. Though slightly digressing from our statistics, we could not pass by an opportunity of vindicating the wisdom of the policy.

In the twenty years referred to, the Methodists increased their church property from fourteen to seventy millions of dollars. In membership up to 1860 they had increased by fifty per cent.; since 1860 their increase has been only six per cent., a surprising difference, it should seem. Perhaps it is to be ascribed chiefly to the enhanced zeal and activity of other denominations, in connection with those facilities of intercommunication which render missionary operations on the frontier somewhat independent of those laborious modes of travel and work in which the followers of Wesley have always excelled. But their increase no doubt largely implies a real extension of the influence of the denomination by the addition of converts, whereas the increase of the Catholics is to a great extent the result of immigration.

Between 1850 and 1870 the Mormons increased from ten thousand to eighty-seven thousand, while their property grew twenty-fold. One is surprised at the statement that the regular Baptists have decreased by one-half, while the irregular Baptists, of various names, are six times more numerous than they were twenty years ago. The Congregationalists are credited with an increase in number of 38 per cent., and with being three times as rich as they were in 1850. The Quakers, or Friends, have steadily advanced in wealth, while constantly growing fewer. The Lutherans yearly receiving accessions to their number from Germany, are ninety per cent. stronger than they were twenty years ago, but their church property has not increased proportionately. The Reformed, by immigration increased threefold, are said to be six times as wealthy as they were when the former census was taken. The Shakers, who are non-combatants, made many converts during our civil war. The Swedenborgians have increased three-fold in numbers and six fold in possessions. Both Unitarians and Universalists have gone backward in numbers. If the Presbyterians have not greatly increased in numbers, they have greatly increased in wealth. According to the census of 1850 there were eighteen thousand Jews in the United States, with church property worth four hundred thousand dollars; in 1870 they had increased to seventy-eight thousand, with church property worth five millions. The compiler whom we follow seems to have quite forgotten the Episcopalians, and we have no documents at hand from which to supply the oversight.

DIRTY STREETS.

Those who have visited New York and passed through other streets than Broadway can testify to the correctness of the representations as to their dirty condition; and we have the authority of the New York Times for it that the streets of Philadelphia are also filthy; but we will set up the streets of Pittsburgh against either or both of them combined, or against the streets of any other dirty city. Their utterly foul condition is a reproach to us which we cannot too soon wipe off. Liberty street, from the Union depot, is specially and disreputably dirty. For a long time past, the scavengers have been scraping the dirt from the centre to the sides and leaving the heaps there unmoved. The accumulation near the gutters is enormous. The rains of the past few days have reduced them to a mass of black and fetid mud, from which a hot sun will soon send off sickening exhalations, while reducing it to dust, to be blown into our eyes by every passing gust of wind. The health of the city, the comfort of the people who are compelled by their business to use the streets, and a common regard for decency, all alike require that this nuisance shall be speedily abated.

We have cited Liberty street because it is the most prominent in its filth; but there are other streets which are very little behind it in foulness. The whole city is intolerably and disgracefully dirty. Epidemics linger in these unsightly piles of mud, and sickness and suffering must soon spread over the length and breadth of our municipal limits. Cleanliness is as much the duty of cities as of individuals, and individual cleanliness can avail but little against municipal uncleanliness. Besides, like begets like. Dirty streets necessarily and insidiously beget in those who live on and among them a disregard for personal cleanliness. The city authorities must look to this matter in season. What is done, let it be well done; and 'twere well if it were done quickly.

The death of John Young creates a vacancy in the office of Jury Commissioner in this county, which will have to be filled by appointment until the people elect his successor in October next. The first Jury Commissioners were chosen in 1867, the second in 1870, and the third election comes in regular course in 1873. As to vacancies in this office, the seventh section of the act of April 10, 1867, provides as follows, viz:

"In case of the inability of either or all of the said Jury Commissioners, by sickness, death, or other unavoidable cause, to discharge the duties of said office, or in case of neglect or refusal to serve therein, it shall be the duty of the President Judge in such county wherein said vacancy may have occurred, to appoint a suitable person or persons, as the case may be," &c.

The second section of the same act fixes the meaning of the words "President Judge," as used in the act, as applying to the President Judge of the Common Pleas, and this being so, the appointment falls to Judge Sterrett, who will doubtless use his prerogative with sound discretion.

It is a pity, in our judgment, that this whole system of Jury Commissioners could not be swept out of existence. As a means of selecting jurors it is a failure. Some better plan must be substituted for it, and he will be a benefactor to the cause of legal justice who can devise a plan that will be more satisfactory and capable of application to the whole State. Repeated trials have shown that the Legislature will not repeal the present law for any county. The repeal must be general, and no general repeal can be had until a substitute is found that will be generally acceptable.

The New York Senate has passed a bill for the suppression of obscene literature, which, if enforced, will make short work of the immoral pictorials and pestilent publications generally, now exposed for sale at almost every news stand in the country. It will also compel the newspaper publishers of New York city and State to be more particular as to the sort of advertising admitted to their columns. This act had already received the approval of the other branch of the Legislature, and will no doubt be signed by Gov. Dix. If it accomplishes its object, an almost inestimable benefit will be conferred on the country at large.

An indication of the enormous growth of railroad traffic is found in the fact that at present there is actually a "car famine," the leading roads finding it impossible to get their orders for freight cars filled at the overcrowded factories. The Buffalo Courier says the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern have given contracts for three thousand additional cars, while the New York Central is anxiously awaiting a reinforcement of fifteen hundred. The Buffalo, New York and Philadelphia Road also wants three hundred in addition to its present stock, and will need still more before the season ends.

There are now, in Iowa, twelve hundred Granges of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, with an aggregate membership of nearly one hundred thousand. The farmers announce their intention to gain control of the next Legislature, and enact such laws as will bring the railroads to terms.

Boston is rapidly swallowing her suburban neighbors. After a prolonged resistance on the part of many of their inhabitants, Brookline and Charlestown have shared the fate of Roxbury.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

The approaching 17th of June will be, according to Marquette's Journal, the two hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Mississippi; and in St. Louis and elsewhere on the line of that historic river it is proposed to commemorate the event in some suitable manner.

The Dutch have always had great success in taking Holland, but the Atcheenese don't succumb so easily. They are only Asiatic barbarians, and must be excused for not knowing what is best for them.

Congress at its next session and the British Parliament before adjournment should remodel the system of safeguards against shipwreck. As sure as a vessel founders at sea her passengers and crew are at the mercy of the waves.

International expositions, congresses and conventions are now the order of the day, and now the lovers of trotting horses of France announce that there will be an international horse trot in Paris in the month of September next, "open to horses from every country."

The State Judiciary and the regulation of the municipal aid to corporations are the principal subjects to come before the Ohio Constitutional Convention next month.

The latest class of swindlers are the consuls. There are two French consuls now in prison in France—gentlemen who had learned a degree of smartness in New York that is not appreciated over there. Now the Spanish consul in Paris has "skedaddled" with 350,000 francs.

New Jersey has been incited to improvement in organic law, and the Governor having determined upon his appointments for members of a Constitutional Commission, has called the State Senate in extra session to act upon his nominations.

The use of lighter weight paper and envelopes by those now using the frank is looked for as a certain result of the abolishing law, and should the use of thinner papers become general in the country, there would be more ease and celerity in moving and handling the mails.

New York city has 523,198 native born, and 421,693 foreign born. Of the latter 201,999 are Irish and 151,216 Germans. The English and Welsh only number together 25,026. Of the 38,589,377, the population of the United States, the largest foreign population in proportion of the whole is in that metropolis.

In Boston they are urging the matter of instruction in sewing in the public schools. The Chairman of the Committee on Industrial Schools has presented the School Committee a report upon the question, which has attracted great public interest.

The Chicago Railway Review has this to say concerning the anti-railway movement: If we are to learn and judge from the past history of scores of such periodical political fevers and ferments, so peculiarly prevalent during our legislative sessions, the present, it may be safely said, will be hardly less ephemeral than precedent dead and gone furores.

The musical festival to take place at Cincinnati shortly promises to be an affair much superior to the Hub-bub over which there was such a great excitement. Theodore Thomas is to be the musical director, and his orchestra, increased by fifty-eight artists, selected from different cities and supported by a grand chorus organ, will furnish the instrumental music.

The order of Patrons of Husbandry has extended its operations into the far South. The farmers of Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia are organizing into granges, and evince a lively interest in the movements of the tillers of the soil in the Northwest.

The long-talked-of postal cards will be issued on the 1st of May. An opportunity will then be afforded to test their convenience, and the question of whether they are a nuisance or a blessing practically determined.

The St. Louis Bible Society collected forty-five dollars last year, and its report shows that the people of the future great city get along with very few Bibles. A casual perusal of the St. Louis papers made us aware of that some time ago.

Greek is getting unpopular in Harvard College, and the movement to substitute German is gaining ground.

There is a complaint at the South that many of her young men are not now educated in this country, but abroad, whence they return with good manners, a little smattering of Latin and French, a little music, a few poor drawings, and a good knowledge of wines. They also bring back a contempt for republicanism, and no religion to speak of, all of which is as wrong as it is likely.

The mania for house-moving at this season has been well characterized by a satirical victim of it as "motional insanity."

The Atlantic disaster has renewed the discussion of the relative merits of iron and wood for ship-building purposes. The vessel was an iron ship, and the fate that overtook her when her bottom struck rock is instanced as an evidence of one of the many dangers to which vessels built of iron are subject.

PERSONAL.

It is stated by a writer in one of the New York evening papers that there are good grounds for serious apprehensions as to the President's health. It is well known that he is troubled with a complaint of the kidneys, which affects him very seriously at times. Indeed, it is sometimes feared that he is in the incipient stage of Bright's disease.

The other day a reporter of the New York Tribune, which for a long time past has abused Collector Murphy, of New York, without stint, called at that gentleman's house and insisted, in an impudent manner, on seeing him. When Mr. Murphy learned that the reporter's business was to "interview" him for his paper, he politely opened the door and informed him that that was his reply to any one from the Tribune. Similar treatment in similar cases elsewhere would soon put an end to the "interviewing nuisance."

Newark, New Jersey, seems ambitious to shine as having once afforded a home for the chief of the cowardly Modoc assassins of the brave Canby—Captain Jack. A story is in circulation there to the effect that a few years since there dwelt there a number of Indian half-breeds, who gained a living by well-digging. One of these had a son, named Jack, who was noted as a ruffian and desperado of the worst type. After five years' service in the United States army, this Jack returned to Newark, and opened a low groggery, but so great a nuisance did it become that the authorities closed it. Finally "Jack" went West, and it is asserted by those who knew him in Newark that his personnel tallies in every particular with the description of this Modoc chief. It is also plausibly set forth that "Jack" is likely Jack, from the fact that his fellow fiends incarnate, "Steamboat Charley" and "Boston Charley," once dwelt in the East.

Miss Nellie Grant will be eighteen years old on the 4th of July. Out of courtesy to the Democrats, she ought not to have been born on that day, but such being the fact the best thing they can do is not to celebrate it.

They tell a pretty good story about Stockwell, the President of the Pacific Mail Company, who recently got "jammed" in Wall street. Speaking of his former success, and his more recent reverses, he said: "When I first came down in Wall street I was called Stockwell; then, when I began to make money, I was called Mr. Stockwell; then it was Captain Stockwell; subsequently I became known as Commodore Stockwell! Now it is that red-headed cuss from Cleveland." This tersely illustrates the financial barometer, as applied to the successful and the unsuccessful man, exactly.

A New York paper extracts from the autobiography of Gen. Scott an incident of his life, apropos of the death of Gen. Canby, to show how far the temporizing policy of the valiant and revered chieftain extended. It was after his capture at the battle of Queenstown, in 1812, at the time when English and Indians were fighting together against an army of which he was one of the youngest but most brilliant and daring officers. Two malignant savages, "Capt. Jacobs" and Young Brant, came into his tent, ostensibly to see whether they had wounded him in the encounter of the day, as he had afforded such a splendid target that each had fired at him several times apiece. One of them seized him by the back and attempted to turn him round, when he threw both with great force against the wall, and seizing a sword, prepared to sell his life as dearly as possible, while they stood glowering with their hands upon tomahawks and knives, waiting for the second when he should be off his guard. A British officer entered at that moment, and the life of the gallant American was saved.

Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Colonel of the First Cavalry, now commanding in the Modoc war, is a Tennessean, and while in command of a mounted division under Stoneman in 1864-5, saw some of the roughest riding and sharpest fighting of the war.

In referring to a lecture soon to be delivered in that city by Gen. Pendleton, the Mobile Register says: "Perhaps the most curious point of all will be Gen. Pendleton's clear and concise narrative of that great fight wherein the liberties of the South were lost—and lost by James Longstreet! The story of Longstreet's delay at Gettysburg has often been told; the effects of that delay have often been commented on, but only by Gen. Pendleton have the motives which induced that delay been plainly and directly charged to the recusant."

Marshall O. Roberts, the New York politician, has been astonishing the artists of Rome by laying in a $20,000 stock of statuary from their studios.

The wife of the British Premier, according to a London correspondent, sadly lacks the social tact necessary to a person in her position. Distrait at all times, she is the cause of greater offences against etiquette than any one in London. Mrs. Grundy is fond of telling how, on one occasion, in order to refresh her husband's memory, Mrs. Gladstone wrote on a card, which she placed in the frame of a conspicuous mirror: "Don't forget to invite those horrid Smiths," and how the "horrid Smiths," as well as Mr. Gladstone, had the exquisite delight of reading the endearing epithet of the frank hostess.

Dr. Woolsey, late President of Yale College and one of the ripest of living publicists, has turned his attention to the doings at Geneva. His life-long study of international law and his intimate acquaintance with the history of this particular arbitration in all its stages are guarantees of a work that, while it will undoubtedly be wholly lacking in the pert flippancies and caustic personalities which make Mr. Cushing's brochure such "spicy reading," will be at once vastly more creditable to American learning and manners, and more useful to the future student.

Obituary.

Justice Baron Von Liebig died at Munich, Bavaria, on Friday last, 18th inst. He was born at Darmstadt, on the 12th of May, 1803, and was consequently nearly seventy years of age at the time of his death. His early predilection for physical science induced his father to remove him from the gymnasium at Darmstadt, where he received his first instruction, to Bonn and Erlangen, where he studied from 1819 till 1822. By aid from the Grand Duke he was enabled to visit Paris and spend two years in prosecuting the study of chemistry. In 1824 he read before the French Institute a paper on "Fulminic Acid," which attracted the notice of Humboldt, and the latter procured for him the appointment of adjunct professor, and two years later that of ordinary professor of chemistry, at Giessen. Here, supported by the government, he founded the first model laboratory in Germany for teaching practical chemistry, which raised the heretofore small university into eminence. In 1845 the Grand Duke of Hesse bestowed upon him an hereditary baronetcy. In 1852 he accepted a professorship in the University of Munich, as president of the chemical laboratory at that place, where a new and important sphere of operation was opened to him. He has composed many works on his favorite branch of science, which have been translated into almost all European languages. His researches are recorded in his own journal, Annalen der Pharmacie, established in 1832; in the Annales de Chimie et de Physique, and in the Handbook of Chemistry, commenced in 1836, by Poggendorf. He revised Geiger's Handbook of Pharmacy, of which his section may be considered a handbook of organic chemistry. His Organic Chemistry in its Application to Agriculture and Physiology, prepared at the request of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, was translated into English and republished in England and the United States, where it attracted much attention. In a series of Familiar Letters on Chemistry and its Relations to Commerce, Physiology and Agriculture, he developed his views with such success that the appearance of the work had the effect of inducing the foundation of a number of new chemical professorships in Germany. In 1860 Prof. Liebig was appointed President of the Academy of Sciences in Munich as successor of Thiersch, and, in 1861, was named foreign associate of the French Academy of Science. He remained at Munich till his death, laboring earnestly in his much loved avocation.

OHIO NEWS.

Joseph Gower, Sr., the oldest colored citizen of the African Methodist Church, in Dayton, died on Monday, aged eighty-one years. His son, the Rev. Joseph Gower, is a missionary of the United Brethern Church, at Sierra Leone, Africa.

The Southern Lunatic Asylum is full, and no more patients can be accommodated.

Mr. Edwin Folk, of Northampton, has a natural curiosity upon his premises—a calf with five legs. It is handsome, playful and lively, and can walk upon its fifth leg if it wants to. It is of a beautiful, bright red color. The calf was born on the 22d of February, and is a curiosity worth seeing. Any person desiring information will please address Edwin Folk, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Clyde, with a population of 2,500, presents the following list of people aged eighty years and over: Mrs. Slocum, grandmother of the lamented General McPherson, aged ninety-six years; William Patrick, eighty-six; Thomas Creps, eighty-four; John Buckington and wife, each eighty-two; William Robinson and wife, each eighty-one; Hannah Brown, eighty; Mrs. Charity Grinnell, eighty; Joseph George, eighty-two; Sylvanus Dirling, eighty-five.

A veteran soldier, ninty-four years old, who has made his home at the National Soldiers' home, near Dayton, for several years, was on Friday, at his own request, granted leave of absence to return to his home in Detroit, Michigan, where he says he wants to go to die.

At Harshmanville, on Saturday evening, Wm. T. Miller was caught in the shafting of an oil mill and instantly killed.

Champaign county supports an old fashioned log jail.

The coal mine owners held a meeting at Akron on Tuesday, and voted to offer the miners ninety-five cents from April first to October first, and one dollar to the end of the year. The meeting was harmonious.

A young man named Chris. Becker was crossing Portage river, on Sunday last, near the village of Portage, in Wood county, in a small skiff, accompanied by his hired man Geo. Meyers. The river being high and running swift, the skiff dipped water, and in their alarm the boat was upset, when, clinching each other, they instantly disappeared. Aid proved unavailing, and up to noon on Monday their bodies have not been recovered. Becker leaves a young wife.

A Zanesville special says: Mrs. Rebecca Chapman, the wife of Samuel Chapman, one of the most distinguished members of the Muskingum bar, this day filed her petitions against E. Merkle and twelve other saloon-keepers, laying her damages at $130,000. Col. W. A. Taylor and Col. N. A. Guille have been engaged for the defense. Judge M. L. Granger and Col. Munson represent the prosecution. The case is exciting a great deal of curiosity.

There seems to be some need for a national divorce law as well as a national bankrupt law. The California papers mention this case: Mrs. Frances Gablenskey applied to a California court for divorce from her husband because he was subject to epileptic fits, claiming that her condition was "intolerable." The court justly held that she had no just claim for separation from her husband because of his affliction, and refused her petition. She was not to be baffled, however; she went to Nevada, the adjoining State, sued for divorce and got it. The California press are not at all pleased with the notion that the triumphant woman can now return to that State and flaunt her victory in the eyes of its courts. She may marry again in California in spite of the California decision that she had no ground for divorce. For the sake of avoiding such troubles as this, a Federal law prohibiting the courts of one State to grant divorces that had been refused by the courts of another, is suggested by leading Western journals.

The Secretary of the Treasury, after a thorough trial, has deemed the American seal lock, now used for bonded cars, &c., unfitted for the use to which it is put, and lacking the requisites of entire safety to the government, and has advertised for proposals to furnish a different character of lock for the purpose. The samples will be examined on the 1st of May.

Lethargic Influences of the Season.

Languor, lassitude, an indisposition to engage in any actual employment, mental dullness and melancholy are evils which materially detract from human enjoyment, and they are experienced in a greater or less degree, according to the temperament and constitutional tendencies of the individual by a large proportion of the community in spring. To rouse the physical and mental powers from this sluggish condition a tonic and corrective is imperatively required, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only medicinal preparation in existence that is thoroughly adapted to the work. The first dose produces a genial glow throughout the system which is an earnest of permanent relief. As time wears on and the tonic and regulating properties of this pure and agreeable vegetable remedy takes full effect, every trace of debility, nervousness and hypochondria vanishes, and mind and body become alike alert and vigorous.

If I had known it LAST YEAR.—This was the language of a poor cripple, who, fourteen months ago, was smashed under an iron beam. He had been allowed to suffer pain and assume a mass of deformity—but he had now recovered the use of one knee by the Centaur Liniment. We hear such language every day. There is no pain this liniment will not assuage, no lameness it will not alleviate, and no swelling it will not subdue.

PEARL WHEAT IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST
Delicious, Wholesome and Nourishing
Preparation of nature's great food ever produced. Essentially nothing but the woody fibre and a portion of the water are removed by the process, leaving all the starch, gluten and the greatest part of the mineral substances (phosphates), all that is nourishing in the wheat. The removal of the woody fibre makes it far more palatable than the various preparations of oatmeal now in the market. For other articles of food contain such proper portions of the requirements of the whole human system. To those suffering from INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, and to persons of sedentary habit, it will prove invaluable. As a BREAKFAST DISH it is unequaled. Our best physicians here say it is of more importance than anything else that can be found. Try it once and you will never be without it. Ask your Grocer or Druggist for a Package. GETTYSBURG
KATALYSINE WATER.
The United States Dispensatory, the authorized record of our Materia Medica, classes this water with the most renowned Alkaline or Carbonated Springs of Europe. It far excels any other known in its self-preserving properties. It does not deteriorate by bottling and keeping. It has never been claimed for any other mineral water the power to dissolve the urates, or so-called chalk formations in the body or on the limbs and joints. This the Gettysburg Katalysine Water has done in hundreds of instances. Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Gravel, Diabetes, Kidney and Urinary Diseases generally have all yielded to its influence. It has restored Muscular Power to the paralytic, cured Abdominal dropsy, and given healthy action to the Torpid Liver. It has cured Chronic Diarrhoea, Piles, Constipation, Asthma, Catarrh, Diseases of the Skin, General Debility, and Nervous Prostration from Mental and Physical Excesses. All these by the bottled water. It is a powerful antidote for Excessive Eating or Drinking. It corrects the Stomach, promotes Digestion, and relieves the Head almost immediately. Pamphlets containing a history of the Spring, reports from eminent physicians and medical writers, marvelous and well-attested cures, and testimonials from distinguished citizens, will be furnished and sent by mail on application to

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, April 19, 1873.

We give below the statement of the New York banks as taken from the indicator of the Stock and Gold Telegraph Company, without vouching for its correctness; as the operator who "runs the machine" seems to think the presence or absence of a zero or two is merely nothing, and as he occasionally writes increase for decrease making a discrepancy of a million or two in the result.

The report of the statement is as follows:

Loans decreased	$1,326,300
Legal tenders increased	1,[illegible]
Coin decreased	17,900
Increase in resources	1,[illegible]
Deposits increased	[illegible]
Circulation decreased	1,100
Increase in liabilities	260,000
Increase in reserve	1,175,100

While the banks are better off to the extent of the increase in reserve of over one million dollars, the public are worse off to the extent of a decrease in loans of $1,326,300.

In the stock market the result of the downfall in the share speculation has been to compel the sale of much stock held by weak parties, which has found its way into stronger hands, and the future is looked to as full of promise to holders of securities at present figures.

This shrinkage in the price of securities usually held as collateral, will tell on the money market by the release of just so much money; equal, it is said, to ten or twelve millions.

The amount of legal tenders outstanding in excess of the $356,000,000 is $2,240,000, showing that Mr. Richardson has adhered to his expressed intention of using only so much of his "reserve" as is necessary for the business of his Department and not for the benefit of stock operators. The deliberations of the Grand Jury, of New York city, resulted in the presentment to the Legislature of a report asking for a repeal of the usury law so far as loans on personal security are concerned, though outside of the protest against this law no action was expected. Their efforts have encouraged the hope that the Legislature will take some immediate steps toward modifying the law as it now stands on the statute books, especially in view of the bankers' petition forwarded to Governor Dix a few days ago, asking for special legislation on the subject.

It has been rumored several times that the Canada Pacific Railroad, which has a large subsidy from the Canadian government, has passed under control of the American parties interested in the Northern Pacific. The Inter-oceanic Railroad Company, in reply to a request of the Secretary of State of the New Dominion to amalgamate with the Canada Pacific Railroad Company, says:

"The impression exists everywhere that Sir Hugh Allan's original scheme is still unchanged, and that his company is intended to co-operate with the parties in the United States interested in the Northern Pacific Railway, and your committee sharing the belief, cannot regard the proposal of amalgamation as otherwise than ill advised and dangerous to the public interest.

"If the scheme of the American or Allan combination [illegible] constructing and running the Railway is to [illegible] at Sault Ste. Marie and at Pembina [illegible] the Northern Pacific Railway and use [illegible] line when built between the two points [illegible]; that is is intended to send all [illegible] traffic between the West, including British Columbia and the Atlantic cities, by the American line [illegible] railway, via St. Paul, and sending through Canada only the traffic destined for Europe and the maritime provinces.

"If this [illegible] is carried out, our great national enterprise, instead of being the successful rival of the American company competing for the Asiatic trade, which is now in its infancy, and building up the Dominion as no other undertaking can do, will simply be the Canadian branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad, entirely under its control, and dictated to by it relentlessly."

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY, April 19, 1873.

REMARKS.—Saturday is usually a dull day with business men, so far as relates to the country trade. Buyers from a distance usually make their purchases in time to take the early modes of conveyance home on Saturday, hence trade is confined to home orders. Nevertheless there was a good degree of life and activity on the principal thoroughfares, which presages the "good time coming." We have no striking features to note in the markets, though a number of changes will be found under appropriate headings. And let the reader bear in mind that the prices given are wholesale and unless special mention is made to the contrary:

BUSINESS.

The market during the principal portion of the week was firm, with an improved demand and a slight advance in prices. At the date of our last general review, Parker oil was selling at $2 12a2 25; since then prices have advanced fully 10a12c per barrel, and a good deal of oil has changed hands at various points in the Oil Regions. The general impression is that the good time so long expected is not far distant. The receipts of crude continue large. For the week it reached 41,146 barrels, and from January to date it exceeds half a million barrels.

IRON MARKETS.

[Reported for Pittsburgh Commercial.]

CINCINNATI.

April 21.—The market still remains quiet. Low grade foundry irons are offered freely, concessions in some cases being made. Forge irons are also in good supply. No. 1 Foundry charcoal irons are scarce, and the little that is on the market finds ready sale at full prices. Of this grade we may look soon for large receipts, as furnaces now out of blast will soon be at work.

MONONGAHELA—Eight feet four inches and rising.

Boats Departing this Day.

Geneva mail packets ... 8 A. M. and 5 P. M.

THE marks last evening indicated eight feet four inches and rising slowly. During the afternoon we had a steady rain.

THE steamers Juniata and Savannah are due.

THE steamer Savannah is due from St. Louis.

SENSIBLE.—Gallipolis collected $63 wharfage last week.

THE towboat Fearless, left for St. Louis with a big trip.

THE Fearless and barges left on Saturday for St. Louis with a good trip.

CARRIE BROOKS, Captain Darlington, is the Muskingum river packet for Tuesday.

THE arrivals since our last include the John Dippold, Alaska and Carrie Brooks.

THE steamer Alaska, Capt. Voris, is announced for St. Louis. She will have dispatch.

MILWAUKEE, April 17.—Lake Pepin is open. The steamer Northwestern went through to-day.

THE steamer Juniata, Captain Brennan, is announced for Cincinnati, and will have dispatch.

THE punctual packet Carrie Brooks, Capt. Darlington, will be found at the landing. She will return to Zanesville on Tuesday at 4 p. m.

CAPTAIN JOHN LAIN, Local Inspector at Evansville, is said to be the only person who has piloted a boat up the Wabash as far as Lafayette.

THE wrecks of the Pink Varble and Dardanelle have both been submerged by the late rise in Arkansas river, and neither are visible to passing boats.

THE mail packets on the slackwater arrive and depart on time, 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. For further information call on Captain A. S. Carlile, on the wharfboat.

THE steamer Andes, Captain Muhlman, will leave Bellaire every Tuesday, at 6 P. M., on the arrival of the noon train from Pittsburgh, for Cincinnati and way points.

THE City Council of Davenport, Iowa, are about to abolish the wharfage tax, or so much of it as pertains to tugs and raft boats that put into that port for supplies.

THE St. Louis Republican, of yesterday, says: "Capt. Alex. Hutchinson, of the John Kyle, says he intends to come up from New Orleans the present trip inside of five days."

BOATS ANNOUNCED: St. Louis, Savannah; Alaska, Cincinnati; Juniata, Zanesville; Carrie Brooks, Portsmouth; Granite State, Cincinnati; from Bellaire, Andes.

THE steamer Savannah, Captain Jonathan Crane, is announced for St. Louis, Galena, Dubuque and St. Paul. Captain Crane is an old favorite here, and as clever an officer as can be found.

THE recent rise in the White river is unprecedented both in rapidity and extent. All of the low country along its valleys is inundated, and it is feared much damage will ensue to property.

CINCINNATI.—The Juniata departed for Pittsburgh with 250 tons, including 1,000 bales of hay and straw, 50 hhds tobacco, and considerable furniture, and a lot of sundries. Pilots—Pollard and Rowey.

PASSENGER rates from Memphis to points on White river are now to points below Duvall's Bluff, seven dollars; Duvall's Bluff, eight dollars; Des Arc, nine dollars; Augusta, ten dollars; Little Red river and Jacksonport, twelve dollars.

COMING BACK TO STAY.—The steamer Granite State, Captain W. H. Kerr, will resume her place in the Pittsburgh and Portsmouth trade on Friday next. She leaves Portsmouth this day, and will leave here on her regular day.

A LOUISVILLE dispatch says: The towboat John A. Wood achieved a great feat, towing up the falls 17 empty barges on one trip. She descended this afternoon to bring up another fleet, and then departs for Pittsburgh, where all the large towboats have been ordered by the syndicate.

THE Cincinnati Gazette says: The Commissioners are now ready to receive propositions from any parties wishing to accept the bonus of half a million dollars offered by the city of Covington, for the building of a railroad bridge across the Ohio river between Covington and Cincinnati.

THE United States Mail Packet Elector, Capt. R. R. Abrams is winning golden opinions from passengers. The Elector is in charge of Capt. R. R. Abrams, a careful and experienced officer; he is ably assisted by the clerks Messrs. Edmiston and Wilson; what they don't know is not worth inquiring about.

STEAMERS from Arkansas river report the current in the stream so swift that upward bound boats were unable to stem it, and the Mary Boyd and Kattie Hegler were both compelled to lay up at Pine Bluff awaiting a decline of the waters and a less swift river before proceeding on their trip.

THE steamer Far West, Captain G. B. Coulson, arrived at Omaha Wednesday evening from St. Louis. She was the first boat of the season up the river, and had on 250 tons of freight for Fort Benton. The steamer Nellie Peck, which left St. Louis at the same time as the former, arrived on Thursday.

THE Keokuk Northern Line will begin running a fast line to Keokuk Monday, which will be extended through to St. Paul as soon as travel begins. This new arrangement will enable passengers to travel by river without being delayed as heretofore by boats towing barges. The Andy Johnson and Rob Roy will comprise the new line.

SATURDAY'S Sioux City Journal says: "A telegram received here last evening stated that the flood in the Missouri had so changed the channel at Yankton, that the new government warehouse there was now a mile away from an available landing. If this is true, it is a bad go for Yankton. The steamer Little Cheyenne passed Fort Sully on the 11th inst., en route for Sioux City."

ATLANTIC seems to be an unlucky name, several vessels and steamers of that name having been lost and wrecked at different times. A steamer which ran between New York and New London was wrecked on Long Island Sound in 1846, another on Lake Erie in 1852, and one or two others before and since. The famous steamer Atlantic which came out in 1858, and run in the Louisville and New Orleans trade, was not a success financially.

AS TO Black river, in Missouri, the Poplar Bluff News says: "For the second time this season, Black river has assumed huge proportions, and threatens to add greatly to the already heavy damages that have been sustained. At the present writing, the river is very high and still rising. The water is over the banks, and the levees are now being tested. On the Cairo and Fulton road, some eight miles below here, the water is said to be two feet deep for a considerable distance."

MEMPHIS, April 19.—The cargo of the sunken barge Collier No. 1 was sold out to-day, and the aggregate sum realized is $16,000. Over 3,000 barrels of flour brought from $3 50 to $4 75 per barrel; 600 barrels of meal from 60 cents to $2 50. The barge will only need a new cargo box and docking to be as good as ever. The Peytona and barges came this evening, and lay over to clean out. The Arkansas river is falling very fast. White river is still out of its banks, and much damage has been done by overflow, and numerous stock was drowned.

LOOK OUT FOR FAST TIME.—That there is fast time to be made by some steamers this season is manifested by the following letter, received at Memphis a few days ago. Capt. Tom Leathers is not the man to wait at the second table, if he can help it:

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—Messrs. Brown & Jones, Coal Dealers, Memphis: I anticipate making a fast trip to St. Louis this spring, and wish to know if you can furnish me with 1,000 bushels of extra lump coal in two good flats that will tow well, to be received at foot of President's Island? Let me hear from you at earliest convenience, and I will telegraph you in ample time to have you prepared to meet me there. Yours respectfully,

T. P. LEATHERS, Master Steamer Natchez.

THE Cincinnati Times and Chronicle has a report that the Cincinnati, Big Sandy and Pomeroy, Portsmouth, Maysville and Chilo packet companies are about to enter into a consolidation. The steamers owned by the Cincinnati, Big Sandy and Pomeroy Packet Company are the Fleetwood, Potomac and Telegraph. The Bostona is the property of the Portsmouth Company, the St. James of the Maysville Packet Company, and the Wildwood of the Chilo Packet Company. In the consolidation the Bostona will be entered in the Huntingdon trade in connection with the Fleetwood, and the Potomac will withdraw to take the Bostona's place. The St. James, now running to Maysville, will go into the Pomeroy trade, and leave Wednesdays and Saturdays, in place of the Granite State, which will be withdrawn. The Wildwood will take the place of the St. James, and make tri-weekly trips to Maysville.

VICKSBURG.—It is generally understood here that on his last trip up Captain Cannon, of the R. E. Lee, left a written communication with his agent here, offering to run the Lee against the Natchez for ten or twenty thousand dollars a side, from New Orleans to Vicksburg, Cairo or St. Louis—boat and money to be ready ten days after notification by the owners of the Natchez that his proposition is accepted. As both boats have numerous friends here and in New Orleans, the news of Cannon's proposition excited a great deal of comment, and any number of private wagers have been made, predicated on the race being made. Captain John W. Tobin, the owner of the Frank Pargoud and other boats, has publicly stated that he would back the Lee for $10,000, with, as yet, no takers. If this contest of speed does take place, and the boats go through to St. Louis, your correspondent now ventures the prediction that one and perhaps both of these boats will make the run from New Orleans to St. Louis in three days and twelve hours, or a little more than six hours quicker than it was ever done before.

THE HUNTED MODOCS.

The Troops in Hot Pursuit, Giving Them No Rest.

Excitment in the Settlements Over the Escape of the Savages from the Lava Bed, and Fears of Trouble with Other Tribes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Late dispatches from Yreka, last night, say that eight Modocs are known to have been killed in the fight yesterday. The cavalry and Warm Spring allies, mounted, have been furnished with three days' rations and sent in pursuit of the Modocs, who have gone in a southeasterly course from the Lava Bed. It is feared that the band will divide up and do great harm to the settlers. A captured squaw says that John Schonchin, who was wounded by Meacham, died of his wounds. Scar-faced Charley had a leg broken in the fight, and while trying to crawl off was dispatched by troop K. The Warm Spring Indians found half a dozen wounded Modocs hidden under some rocks, and scalped them. A correspondent had his ear clipped by a Modoc bullet. A citizen of Yreka, while driving two horses up to help a battery, was killed, stripped, scalped, and a piece of his stomach cut out by the Modocs. His body was recovered and buried by the troops.

To the present time no courier has arrived at Yreka. James Wheeler arrived from Balts to-night. There is considerable uneasiness among the settlers regarding the Modocs getting out of the Lava Bed, fearing that they may raid into the Shasta valley. Mrs. Meacham, wife of the Commissioner, who started to the front on Tuesday, is not permitted to go farther than Balts, as it is thought unsafe for her to proceed farther. She then went to Linkville. Mr. Meacham's condition was favorable at last accounts. Nearly all the horses at Balts were down with the epizootic, and the disease is spreading toward the Lava Bed. From the fact that so many horses are sick it may become difficult to obtain some for couriers. Communication from the front are less frequent.

There is intense excitement in the settlement near the Lava Bed and Tule Lake country. The murder of Hovey within a mile of the place by a party of ten Modocs, indicates the escape of some of Jack's warriors. Messengers have been sent in every direction to warn settlers.

A courier who arrived at Yreka at three o'clock this afternoon, brings only government letters. The country is alarmed. It is feared that Jack's band has escaped from the Lava Beds. Gen. Schofield will send forward reinforcements with all possible dispatch.

The funeral of Dr. Thomas was attended by an immense concourse of people. Gen. Schofield and a large number of military officers attended; also, members of the Masonic fraternity.

Dispatches this evening say that Col. Mendenhall's battery, two officers and sixty men on foot, and Capt. Hasbrouck's battery, three officers and seventy-three men mounted, accompanied by a battery, left at 1 P. M. to-day for Fort Crook, in the northeastern part of the country, about eighty miles from this point. There are fears of a general Indian outbreak in that country should the Modocs make their escape to that section. The troops will be ready to pursue the Indians and protect settlers. A daily line of couriers will be established.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—A dispatch just received from Yreka is as follows: J. K. Sutterree arrived last evening from Orleans, and says the Indians on the Klamath and Salmon rivers seem to be fully posted on the Modoc war, even better than the whites. One Indian told him he had seen a Modoc, who told him all about the fight. It is evident that Modoc runners have visited the tribes in Northern California and Southern Oregon. The people in Klamath and Delnorte counties, however, apprehend no outbreak for the present. Thirteen armed citizens left for the front this morning to bring in the body of Hovey. From strictly reliable gentlemen who have been through the Lava country, we learn there is a large cave six miles from the late Modoc stronghold in a southeasterly direction. If taken by the Indians the cave will be harder to approach, will protect them much better from shells, is amply supplied with wood, food and animals, but according to his recollection nearly a half a mile from water. There are a great many lesser caves and crevices, but not water. A circuit of thirty miles, he thinks, would have to be made to get guns and supplies to the new stronghold, which the rascals now almost certainly are doing.

Still in the Lava Bed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—A dispatch from Yreka says Frank Merritt, just returned from the front, having left at two P. M. Friday, reports the Indians still in the Lava Bed, some Modocs having been seen where Young Hovey was shot, evidently keeping open communication with the lake for water. A number of shots were fired along the line just before he left. The troops are still remaining in the Lava Bed. Colonel Perry, with one hundred men, started at six A. M. the day Merritt left for the south side of the Lava Bed to cut the Indians off from the springs. The Indian found in Jack's cave was Scar-faced Charley without a doubt, from the description given. He was dead, instead of wounded, as before reported. Eugene Hovey's body was buried near the camp on Friday. It was so horribly mutilated as to be scarcely recognizable. Merritt says the epizootic had not reached the front, but was bad at Ball's place.

Brown, Chairman of the Committee of Seventy, states that the committee at a meeting Saturday night, adopted resolutions favoring a new charter for the city of New York as a whole, although some clauses were objectionable, notably that one which makes part of organic law the retention of certain men in office. Governor Dix will, however, be asked by the committee to sanction the charter and make it a law, as its passage by the Legislature is good evidence that the people when they choose to make their power manifest are superior to any combination of mere politicians. Mr. Brown regards the charter in many respects as a genuine triumph of the Committee of Seventy.

Within a week he was induced to consult a regular detective, when he discovered a diamond ring which had been stolen from him on the finger of the detective. He thereupon gave the detective three days to produce the rest of the plunder, which was done a day or two after, the officer pretending to have received it from a thief who had fled to Philadelphia. The detective declined to accept a hundred dollar bill for his astuteness.

CITY MATTERS.

Wanted.

"Daily Commercial" of the following date, to complete our files: November 29, 1872.

A Waif on a Doorstep.

On Friday evening last a waif was brought into the family of Albert Heiser of No. 240 Center avenue, being a handsome little fellow some three weeks old. While the family sat in the parlor a ring of the door bell called Mr. H. who found a bundle upon the steps but no one was in sight. Calling his wife the bundle was examined and found to contain, as stated, a male child. A search among its clothing discovered a note pinned to some one of the articles which read as follows: Keep it—its mother is dead—and you will be rewarded; it is three weeks old. There was nothing more to be found about it, nothing to indicate who had left it. The writing was evidently a disguised hand. While the ladies of the household were making the little stranger comfortable, inquiry was made without, regarding who might possibly be the person that had abandoned the child. The only information that could be obtained was that from a policeman, who had seen two women, one of whom carried an infant, near the house, but he had not noticed them stop there. Mr. Heiser has several children, and while he would not desert the little fellow, was willing it should find a good home elsewhere. The facts of the occurrence spread in the neighborhood, and many called to see the youngster, while several offered to take it. It was finally given to Mr. Alonzo Early a member of the Phillips Engine Company, who desires to adopt it.

Dedicatory Exercises.

The new Fourth Baptist Church edifice, located on Thirty-ninth street, was dedicated yesterday with appropriate ceremonies. At the morning service Rev. B. F. Woodburn delivered an interesting and impressive sermon, in the afternoon Rev. A. K. Bell discoursed, and the closing services of the day were conducted by Rev. J. D. Herr. The attendance at each of the three services was large, and excellent music was furnished, the congregation being supplied with a fine Burdett organ. The pastor in charge is Rev. A. J. Bonsall, a young minister of much promise.

This new church building is remodeled from the old Fifteenth ward school house, an addition having been constructed and the whole inside having been re-arranged. The lower story comprises a fine lecture room, with apartments for Sabbath school classes, and a minister's study. The main church room is large, well lighted, and handsomely arranged and fitted up. The whole expense of the edifice will not exceed $25,000. The congregation is small, but with the active young minister and the earnest workers with him, it must fast increase.

The new M. E. church on Green street, Third ward, Allegheny, was also dedicated yesterday. Services were held in the morning and afternoon, and were of a very interesting character. A children's meeting was held in the morning, and the dedicatory sermon preached in the afternoon, by the Rev. J. W. Baker, of the South Commons church. This church is a neat one story frame building, and was built by the Home Missionary Society. The Sabbath school, which was organized several years ago, has steadily increased, until now it is in a very flourishing condition. The church is also in a good condition, and gives promise of being a great success.

The Opera of "Stradella."

The following communication was received late Friday night, but owing to the crowded state of our columns Saturday morning, we were compelled to lay it over. We give it this morning, hoping it is not too late to work the object we presume is intended, and justly—proper encouragement of home institutions:

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

DEAR SIR: Pardon us if we encroach slightly on your valuable space. Thinking, perhaps, that a comparison of the renditions of the above opera by the English Opera Troupe, now playing at the Academy, and the Frohsinn Society, of our city, a few weeks since, might not be drawn in your amusement columns, and knowing that it was absolutely demanded by the public, we have ventured to offer a few lines, hoping we do not intrude on the rights of your critic. We may state here that we have not been connected in any way with either performance, and merely write as one who has witnessed both. We take pleasure in acknowledging the singing and playing of "Leonora," by Miss Hersee, as elegant; but feel very much grieved to be compelled to remark casually that she was in a very bad crowd. In the opening scene and aria of the second act, we think an actual injustice was done by the audience in not giving her a rousing encore, for if any one ever deserved it, she did then, and in several other parts of the opera. We presume the truth was that the audience were so much dissatisfied with the rest of the cast that they were really too much dispirited to even applaud merit in one. "Stradella," poor "Stradella," was absolutely butchered in cold blood by Mr. Clark, and as indifferently as it was sung and acted a few weeks ago, that rendition was excellent when compared with this. No part in the opera has so much opportunity of displaying the voice as this, and when this is spoiled it naturally spoils all. If the prayer, that exquisite piece of music, addressed to the Spotless Madonna, had been cut out on this last occasion, together with the tenor part immediately preceding it, the slight would have been more pardonable than the rendition. Unfortunately, aside from voice, Mr. Clark is not at all at home on the stage, as his positions, twists of countenance, continual biting of the nether lip, and hanging of the arms give the audience knowledge of his little ability as an actor. One supposes at times that he is probably a little indolent, a little too lazy to jump around or try to make a good upper note, but rather take a lower one instead. We are sorry to be compelled thus to speak of the faults of this young gentleman, but think we are doing him a service in mentioning them, as he may struggle the harder to overcome them, and may at some future time make a fine opera singer. We would advise him to retire from the stage and enter into about three years of hard study and practice. We do not wish to single out Mr. Clark, as we are compelled to say the character of "Barbarino" was even worse than "Stradella." We were astonished to find Mr. Bowler so miserable. In this character he cannot be compared for a moment, either in voice or acting, to the gentleman who sang it in the Frohsinn Society. The first duet between "Barbarino" and "Malvolio," was simply a miserable failure, whereas Messrs. Brecht and Boehme made it a particular success, and their whole parts mesmerably so. Mr. Bowler seems to have lost all control of his voice, as there is no accuracy whatever in his range. He ought to withdraw from opera for a time. We are afraid the company is in a sorry plight for tenors. "Malvolio" last night completely ignored the text, although Mr. Seguin is by no means a failure in other operas. On the contrary he has been a general favorite in our city, and we know he at least can do much better. "Signor Bassi," Mr. Hall, didn't come up to the expectation at all.

Now for the chorus. Well, we can hardly call it a chorus. Five females for both soprano and alto you know won't much; and then nine men for tenor and bass don't count in an opera. To compare this to a chorus of thirty-three young ladies with fresh, good voices, and thirty-nine young men with ditto, would be absurd, so we won't do it. But the style of some of the choruses was a little different. In the rendition of the Frohsinn Society, the choruses were embellished with ritards in several places, which, to our ear, seemed much prettier, but last night these parts were sung straight ahead in one time. We don't pretend to know which of these styles are texts, but we prefer the former. The orchestra last night numbered nine pieces, whereas on the other occasion twenty-nine pieces were represented.

The public can draw its own inference, either from having heard both renditions or what we have tried to say, even in a poor way; but as for the Frohsinn Society, they can well feel encouraged in their efforts, and we know they will always be well received by our citizens. A repetition of this opera, say in a month hence, we think, would meet with immense success, since they do it so much better than the organized opera company.

OFFICER CUPPLES will now have another Washington county search after Briceland.

THE SCULLS.

Preparations for the Boating Season—Henry Coulter to Row With Biglin and Ward—A Sweepstake Suggested.

Preparations are being made for interesting contests the coming boating season, and the opening race among the champions is likely to be a most important one. John Biglin and Elias Ward, noted Eastern scullers, have already arranged a match, to take place in July, and $100 a side are already up. On the first of next month a second put is to be placed, to the amount of $200 each. Henry Coulter, of Allegheny, having expressed a desire for a similar race, or a participation in the one referred to, the parties named have notified him that he may enter on equal terms. Mr. Coulter promptly accepted the offer, and has written a letter to this effect, offering to sign the articles as soon as sent him, and to put up at once equal amounts with the others. He says:

As neither have any objection to the offer, and seem perfectly willing that I should come in, I embrace the opportunity, and will sign an agreement to that effect as soon as forwarded. The first of May being fixed as the time for making the second deposit of $200 by Biglin and Ward, I will before that date send on $300, the extra one hundred dollars to cover a similar sum already on deposit. Inasmuch as the matter now assumes the aspect of a sweepstake, I would suggest that there be no restrictions, but that all who are inclined to enter may do so by putting into the purse five hundred dollars. If the entries are numerous the sum would be a handsome one to row for and would repay the winner for his time and expenses of training. And furthermore, the vexed question of the championship might then be settled satisfactory, and the successful contestant's victory would be a more creditable one than if achieved in a single-handed contest.

HENRY COULTER.

Pittsburgh, April 19, 1873.

Mr. Coulter seems desirous to have all the well-known scullers enter, and we hope that many will do so. Such a race would attract much attention and give a stimulus to boating, supposing, of course, that it is fairly conducted, and that the difficulties so frequently experienced heretofore, are avoided.

HOME RACES IN PROSPECT.

Mr. J. B. Jones, Jr., of the Juniata Club, South Side, who has never, as yet, pulled a match race, challenges Edward O'Hara, of the Max Moorhead Club, to run a three-mile race on the upper Monongahela course for a purse of $200, the race to take place two weeks after the signing of the articles. No doubt Mr. O'Hara will accept.

The first race of the season has been arranged to take place next Saturday between John Snyder of the Beck Club, South Side, and Edward Phillips of the Max Moorhead club, Soho. The race is to come off on the upper Monongahela course for $100 a side. Both parties have had some experience and Snyder won two single scull races last season.

A BITTER LIFE.

The Allegations in a Petition in Divorce.

The petitions in divorce, filed in the Court of Common Pleas, reveal many of the darker phases of life. On Saturday, Mrs. Odessa Schooley, by her next friend, Dr. E. Donnelly, filed an application for divorce from her husband, James M. Schooley, on the ground that his treatment has been harsh, cruel, and barbarous, and such as to render her condition intolerable, and her life burdensome. These are the usual general complaints, but Mrs. Schooley goes further, and specifies to certain acts of cruelty. She charges that on one occasion he threatened to cut her heart out with a large knife which he brandished over her; at another time he knocked her down and kicked her, disfiguring her face in a brutal manner; once he attempted to fire the house while he had her locked in a room, and on another occasion he threw a lamp filled with oil into the fire, locked her room door, and left her to her fate. These abuses compelled her to withdraw from his companionship, and she left him in November, 1871, fearing that he might kill her if she remained. They were married in 1866, and the cruel treatment has continued about five years. A subpoena was awarded to the husband, who will have a chance to defend himself against these fearful charges.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Miss Carlotta Le Clercq completed her series of performances on Saturday, when "Fate" was twice enacted. Her engagement was moderately successful financially, and decidedly so in an artistic sense. She will be welcome whenever she chooses to visit the city.

To-night Mrs. James A. Oates and a company of fine abilities, as singers and actors, give their first entertainment, a comic opera entitled "The Grand Duchess." Of Mrs. Oates the St. Louis Democrat says: "Mrs. Oates plays with charming abandon, and sings magnificently. She has the taste to adapt her voice to the music, singing sweetly in the airs of some of the grand old operas, or with a reckless, saucy vigor in the slang music that claims burlesque for its outlet. In her appearance she is decidedly pretty in face and figure. Her acting good, spirited yet chaste, and never over-stepping the bounds of propriety. The company has been well selected, and is made up of the best burlesquers on our stage. Their style is quiet and their fun intense, without being broad, and never for a moment steps beyond the confines of decency. In this respect it is a decided improvement on many of the troupes now floating around the country, and is a model they would do well to pattern after. The cast is judiciously distributed and the company is booked for a successful run." The latter prediction will apply to Pittsburgh, if the writer's guess go not wide of the mark.

Aims's American Theater.

At the head of the list of new attractions announced for appearance here this evening, stands Cool Burgess, whose delineations of Ethiopian eccentricities are always so laughable. Then there is Nellie West, a charming songstress; Bryant, a new candidate; Johnny Manning, a performer of remarkable feats on the trapeze; John Pierce, comedian; Walter Gale, a fine singer; and a number of others. The ballet troupe stays another week. Look out for good things this week.

Trimble's Varieties.

There is no flagging on the part of Gardner & Trimble in their endeavors to make this the most popular theater of its class in the city. This statement will be borne out by the company engaged for this week. It consists of Mons. Du Verney, contortionist; Mlle Florantaine, equilibrist; Manchester and Jennings, song and dance; Emma Ellinger, vocalist and commedienne; D. L. Morris, Dutch comedian; Peter Cannon, Irish vocalist; Charles Howard, the king of dusky comedy, and many more.

Library Hall—Minstrelsy.

High up in the list of favorite minstrel troupes stands the name of Moran & Manning's company, to whom Mr. Beamer will introduce our citizens, at Library Hall, this evening. Moran and Manning are both wits of no mean quality, and never fail to see the ludicrous side of anything worth joking about. Eugene, another member, is known here and elsewhere as the best male delineator of female character on the boards. Unsworth abounds in unctuous fun and aids Eugene nobly in the burlesques. There is a fine quartette, men of well trained voices, who sing well together. The Buffalo Boys also accompany the party. The programmes will embrace all the new popular melodies, as well as laughable musical burlesques, Ethiopian farces, etc., etc. Seats can be secured at Hale's music store, 103 Smithfield street, for any night desired.

Adam Farepaugh

and his great menagerie and circus will visit the city soon. The boys should economise their pennies.

Hon. Matthew Edwards.

The Philadelphia Press, in its sketches of members of the Constitutional Convention, now sitting in that city, has the following regarding a well known citizen of Pittsburgh:

By Mr. Hanna's side—mind, the language is Mister, for by no other "Hannah's" side—sits "Old Conestoga," of Pittsburgh, the Hon. Matthew Edwards, one of the Republican delegates from the Twenty-third District. He has a reputation for hard sense second to none, and his well-balanced mind is kept in good working order by a body equally as well-balanced and healthily developed. In committee room and consultation his services are invaluable, and upon all practical questions relating to our material interests he has a book of reference and an actual chart for the guidance of his compeers.

Mr. Edwards was born in Baltimore in 1824, but he removed to Philadelphia with his father's family in 1826, and to Pittsburgh in 1832, where he has ever since resided. He was reared to the business of manufacturing glass, but at present is "in oil." Nine years in the Councils of Pittsburgh, and a brief experience lately in the Legislature, have familiarized him with parliamentary proceedings, and eminently fitted him for usefulness in the Convention—albeit he is not regularly admitted as an attorney at law. He is on the Committees on Declaration of Rights and Industrial Interests and Labor, and no member is more attentive to his duties and has proposed more important provisions of fundamental law.

In personal appearance Mr. Edwards compares favorably with the good-looking large members—he weighs one hundred and seventy, and measures five feet eight; has dark hair, slight side whiskers, full face, high broad forehead, good features, and approachable presence. He has a high reputation for good common sense, real mother wit, and a perfect store house of statistics. In social life he is as agreeable as business-like in committee. He is always at his post, and never fails to work and vote for the best interests of the State.

A Boy Worth Looking After.

The Lancaster Express of Friday last contains the following item: "About two weeks ago there appeared at the residence of Dr. J. W. Nevin a bright faced, well dressed, honest looking little boy who gave his name as Jacob Caro and his age thirteen years. His story was an interesting one, and was told with much straightforwardness. He had been left an orphan some time ago, and for a while after boarded at the Tremont Hotel, on Malbert street, New York, in which city his parents had lived. He had a half brother in business in New York, but who had not provided a home for this manly boy and his two little sisters. So Jacob, finding his funds growing low, concluded to take his sisters (one aged seven years, the other ten) to an uncle in Pittsburgh, hoping there to find a home for them. He took them to Pittsburgh, found the uncle, left them there, and was on his homeward trip when his funds became exhausted at Lancaster. This is his story, and he looks like a truthful boy. He now declares that he likes Lancaster better than New York, and is of opinion that he will stay here. Dr. Nevin, having no particular use for the boy, and yet disliking to send him adrift, sent him to the Children's Home on Tuesday, where he now is, and where he will remain until some other home can be provided for him. Every person that meets him fails to love with the child. In the meantime, will not our New York and Pittsburgh exchanges copy this item, in order that the boy's relatives may ascertain his whereabouts? He is unusually intelligent for his years, and does not seem like a boy that had been exposed to hardships."

Escape from the Washington County Jail.

In our telegraphic columns will be found the particulars of the escape of seven prisoners including the negro Briceland under sentence for murder, from the Washington county jail. There were but nine inmates, those remaining being an old man, a cripple, and a boy. The manner of the escape is explained in our latest dispatches, as told by one of the prisoners who has returned. The Chief of Police of this city was informed of the occurrence by telegraph, soon after it was discovered on Saturday evening, but none of our officers have taken any steps in the matter nor have they been asked to do so by the Washington authorities.

Sunday Liquor Selling.

On Saturday, Mayor Blackmore instructed the police force to notify all saloon keepers doing business on their respective beats, that should they sell on Sunday they would be prosecuted. The result was that but few risked the business yesterday, only those, probably, that have a very retired back entrance and a quiet trade, or those that can afford to pay $50 for it. Considering that the law is plain, and known to every one, the necessity of notifying dealers is not apparent. It looks as though it has been well known to the authorities that Sunday liquor selling is carried on and that now, having determined to put a stop to it, they do not desire to take dealers at a disadvantage.

The Second Avenue Improvement.

The Commissioners recently elected to superintend the improvement of Second avenue from the Birmingham bridge eastwardly, met on Saturday at Municipal Hall for the purpose of organization but the business was postponed. It turned out that the election officers had not made returns having ten days succeeding the election to do so. In consequence the Commissioners adjourned until Saturday next.

It is to be hoped that having organized there will be as little delay in the business of the Board, as possible. The improvement is much needed and the work should be speedily commenced and vigorously pushed to completion before the winter sets in.

Slander Suit.

A. Hoyt, and Eugenia, his wife, brought suit in the District Court, on Saturday, against Eugene Steiner for slanderous words uttered of and concerning Mrs. Hoyt. It is alleged that Steiner, in the hearing of Caroline Repple, Mrs. Huber, and others, did falsely and maliciously make declarations, in German language, calculated to injure her reputation in the estimation of all good citizens. The parties reside in Allegheny city. A capias was issued, and bail fixed at $500.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

In this Court, on Saturday, sentences were imposed as follows:

James Nicholson, for the larceny of billiard balls from the rooms of J. H. Jeffords, eighteen months in the Penitentiary. For the larceny of goods from D. H. Fralich, two years in the Penitentiary.

Mathew F. Cassiday, assault and battery on Peter Kunzier, sentenced to pay a fine of $100.

Christopher Leebald, for selling liquor on Sunday, and without license, fined $100 in each case.

The case against Adam Newman, charged with breach of the peace, on oath of A. J. Cain, was dismissed.

THE DE ROY CASE.

Emanuel De Roy, the pawnbroker who was convicted of receiving from James Nicholson the goods which he had stolen from D. H. Fralich, was not sentenced, a motion having been made for a new trial. The reasons assigned were nine in number, among which were "after discovered testimony," and the fact that "the verdict was mainly based on the testimony of a convict, uncorroborated in any material matter." The case will probably be disposed of on Saturday next.

Court will meet this morning to dispose of cases on the argument list.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

On application of D. H. Bingham & Co., of New York city, petitioning creditors, a restraining order was granted against certain creditors of Shugert & Starr, debtors, of Erie county.

Common Pleas—Judges Stowe and Collier.

Mrs. Matilda Tipping, wife of Robert Tipping, of the First ward, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Ellen Littleton, wife of Christopher Littleton, of this city, filed petitions for the benefit of the act securing to married women their separate earnings.

In consideration of a petition being presented and read, the Court decreed that the sale of the real estate of Maria Catharine Dingler, a lunatic, be confirmed, and that the petitioner, Jacob Dressel, be permitted to execute a deed of sale according to the terms of contract.

On motion of defendant's attorney, a rule was granted on plaintiff in the case of Bonsall vs. Kirkpatrick, to show cause why a new trial should not be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Jacob Webber vs. Indiana Township, for a settlement of claims made for collecting road taxes, the Court granted a rule on the auditors and treasurer of the township to show cause why the petitioner should not be credited with the amount of cost and labor claimed.

In the matter of the petition of John Wible, of Allegheny, asking leave to adopt Joseph Alexander Cook as one of his heirs, the Court, being satisfied that the welfare of the child would be promoted by the adoption, granted the petition, and decreed that the child assume the name of Joseph Alexander Wibble.

In the equity case of William P. Wright, and Mary, his wife, vs. Sophia Beckfield, Charles Rigor, et al., the Court appointed G. P. Fulton, Esq., master, to take testimony.

In the case of Watson & McKay vs. Wm. McKim's executors, the court granted a rule on plaintiffs to show cause why the judgment entered should not be opened and defendants let in to a defense.

DROWNED.

Two Little Boys Lost in the Ohio.

Two sad drowning cases occurred yesterday in the Ohio river opposite Temperanceville. About half past four o'clock in the afternoon three little boys were playing about the shore in a skiff. Being unable to row up stream they got upon a coal barge lying along the shore and attempted to pull the skiff up. While so engaged one of them, James Cawley by name, jumped into the skiff, which unfortunately upset and the boy sunk under the barge. An alarm was given by the other boys, but the body did not re-appear and was not recovered. Cawley was about fourteen years of age and resided with his parents near Painter's mill. The accident occurred near the Ferry landing.

About half an hour later an almost similar occurrence took place near the same spot. A smaller boy, Jeremiah Sheen, between nine and ten years of age, while playing in a skiff, fell into the water and was drowned. The body was recovered within fifteen minutes, but, although every effort was made, he could not be resuscitated. The parents of the unfortunate little fellow reside in Singer's row.

The Late Cutting Affair.

Our readers will remember that two weeks since a colored man named James Gray stabbed a young woman named Margaret Humphries, whom he claimed as his wife, at the house of John Martin, on Center avenue. Gray was arrested and committed to jail to await the result of the injuries inflicted. Having recovered so far as to be out of danger, an information has been made against Gray for felonious assault and battery. On Saturday a commitment for trial was lodged against him, in default of $2,000 bail.

FAIRBANKS SCALES.

Their Manufacture and Universal Use.

Of the immense number of people now using the celebrated Fairbanks scales, few perhaps have any idea of the extent of the manufactory, or in what part of the world it is located. About thirty years ago the inventor, Mr. Fairbanks, commenced business on a small scale in St. Johnsbury, Vermont, and for many years was compelled to exercise the greatest courage and patience to stem the swift current of opposition which was sweeping down upon him from all the rival manufactories in America and Europe. With a will of a monarch he kept the enemy at bay, and by dint of constant toil and unflagging energy, he has to-day one of the largest, most complete and magnificent manufactories on the face of the earth. That small workshop in thirty years has developed itself into one covering a space of ten acres of ground, which furnishes employment to six hundred men. The capacity of this establishment is fifty thousand scales annually, embracing three hundred varieties, ranging from the tiniest scale used in a bank or drug store, to the ponderous scales used in weighing railroad cars or canal boats, which are upwards of five hundred tons in weight. The scales manufactured at this mammoth establishment are used in every civilized country in the world where accuracy in weights are found essential. The machinery employed in manufacturing these scales cannot be excelled in precision in any other manufactory in the world, and the workmen are required to be the most skillful.

An idea of the real value of the Fairbank's scales can be formed when we inform our readers that they received the highest premium at the Paris Exposition over thirty-three other manufactories from all parts of the world.

It may be particularly interesting to note some of the materials and quantities annually consumed in the manufactory of these scales: About 5,000 tons of iron, 13,000 pounds of brass, 20,000 pounds of paints, 33,000 pounds of nuts, bolts and washers, 4,500 gross of screws, 1,500 kegs of nails, 3,000 tons of coal, 4,000,000 feet of lumber, besides large quantities of steel and other materials were used.

Branch houses have been established all over the country, and the manufactory is now represented in every city in the United States, where thousands of all varieties of scales are built. The warehouse and salesroom of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. has recently been removed from No. 102 Second street to No. 48 Wood street. The new establishment is admirably fitted for the purpose required and all sizes of scales can be had by either personal application or by order. Prompt attention is their motto.

ALLEGHENY STEAM MARBLE WORKS.

Immense Capacity of the Works and Facilities for Filling Orders at Short Notice.

Persons in search of a place to procure marble mantels, or to leave orders for monuments, headstones, etc., will find the Allegheny Steam Marble Works, Nos. 63, 65 and 67 Anderson street, Messrs. Beggs and Lindsey, proprietors, the most extensive manufacturing establishment in Western Pennsylvania. It is absolutely necessary that one should visit and examine the works in order to possess himself of any idea of their capacity and facilities. A large number of finished workmen are constantly at work, and only the best marble is handled by them. Some of the finest samples of marble manufacture can be seen in their show room, among which we could mention their Italian and statuary mantels as the most beautiful works of the art. Then there are the Tennessee, French, Scotch, and Spanish colored mantels, that are first class articles, and of which Messrs. Beggs & Lindsey are the only manufacturers in this city. The mantels we have just called attention to, we may add, are not liable to scale or scrape off, as the cheaper materials will. This fact should be taken into consideration, as they are undoubtedly the cheapest in the end.

These gentlemen devote a great share of their attention to the manufacture of all the different designs of granite and marble monuments, tombstones, etc., and they are proud of the reputation they have long since made for their establishment in this line, and specimens of their most elegant work can be seen any time at any of our principal cemeteries. Parties wishing to place to the memory of their dearly loved one something in a manner worthy of the departed, should consult the ingenuity and artistic skill of Messrs. Beggs & Lindsey, and we are certain they cannot be disappointed. They are practical marble workers, and hence know exactly how to conduct an establishment such as theirs. Their prices are never extravagant, and the facilities of the works even give them an advantage over smaller marble cutters in offering inducements.

Model Carriage Manufactory.

Messrs. Workman & Davis are now reaping the fruits of their many years of hard labor to make their carriage manufactory, Nos. 42, 44, 46 and 48 Arch street, Allegheny city, one of the largest and most complete in Pennsylvania. They have been most successful in combatting the large establishments of the East, and now have the satisfaction of knowing that they have honorably made for themselves one of the largest trades and a reputation the most enviable of any manufacturing house in the country. The work they send out is a moving advertisement of their skill and style, and they owe their immense capacity more to the spirit of honest competition and a desire to give every purchaser perfect satisfaction, than to any other causes. At their repository, Nos. 167, 169 and 171 Penn Avenue, can be seen specimens of their work in all kinds of carriages, barouches, buggies, phaetons, jagger-wagons, etc. The stock of these vehicles is at present very large, the firm having considered it prudent to be well prepared for the spring and summer trade. For those who prefer Eastern work, a stock is always kept on hand, that all may be suited. The tariff on all vehicles is moderate at this establishment, and none need complain of two high prices.

Housekeepers, Take Notice.

Messrs. J. Meyer & Son, Nos. 412 and 414 Penn avenue, east of railway crossing, manufacture their own furniture, and those in search of the best quality of goods would consult their own interest by visiting this establishment. An almost inexhaustible stock of parlor, dining room, chamber and office furniture is kept constantly on hand, and there is nothing in the trade that cannot be procured at this house. It is frequently the case that persons have to travel about from place to place for days before they can be suited in quality and price. Messrs. Meyer & Son only make one quality—the best—and can always effect a sale where nothing but the price is in question. They never ask two prices for an article, and consequently their customers are not frightened out of the store. Call and make your selections.

A Gentleman's Wardrobe

Should receive constant attention, as nothing will do more to establish his reputation for slovenliness as the neglect of his person. Therefore every man, rich or poor, ought to and can afford to dress himself with taste, and to do this he is in duty bound—a duty he owes to society—to find a tailor who can sell him a suit in keeping with his means, and make it in a style that will be a pleasure for his friends to see. He will then feel comfortable and happy. The place to secure such a suit is at B. Tiegel's tailoring establishment, No. 53 Smithfield street, where the very latest Eastern styles and most fashionable patterns of cloths, cassimeres, vestings, etc., are regularly received.

We are able to present many new and elegant designs, and this season have many novel features to produce never before brought out.
